Three persons were killed and 12 others injured in a series of traffic mishaps on highways in the Mansfield area over the week-end and today.

The dead are M. B. Crippen of Greenwich, killed shortly before noon today when his car was struck by a train north of Greenwich; Mrs. Sarah Shondell, 40, Turtle Creek, Pa., killed in an auto-truck collision at Ontario yesterday, and Mrs. Clara Graham, 28, of Bucyrus, killed in an auto crash Saturday night.

Crippen, manager of the Greenwich telephone exchange, met death at 11:55 a. m. today when he drove his automobile on to a crossing on a rural road north of Greenwich.

6 Bail Out Of Plane, 5 Missing

EAST LAKE, Quebec—(AP)—Five members of the crew of a Canadian Air force bomber who parachuted from their plane Saturday night still were missing today, but the sixth man, Flying Officer U. J. H. Leblanc, the pilot, was reported safe at a lumber camp near here.

Leblanc, said to have been the last man to jump, landed in the snow only 50 feet from the camp.

Leblanc said he bailed out about ten minutes after the rest of the crew. Presumably, the ship was out of fuel.

START PLACING PARKING METERS IN CITY TODAY

115 Machines Arrive, Expect All To Be In Operation By Wednesday.

Meter parking on Mansfield streets will become a reality, probably Wednesday, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced today.

A representative of the Michaels Art Bronze company, Elmer Luebbert, arrived here today and was in conference with City Engineer W. C. Statler concerning the placing of the 414 meters.

Delivery of 115 of the penny and nickel multiple type manual devices was made today and it is expected that installations will get under way this afternoon and tomorrow morning, Luebbert said.

The additional 299 meters will be delivered to the city tomorrow and the installation will be completed and ready for service Wednesday evening.

Motorists, however, will not be required to deposit their nickels and pennies for parking on Thursday, the parking regulations permitting free parking on the streets on Sundays and holidays.

The meters are being leased from the Michaels company for a nine-month trial period during which time the city will pay $3.75 monthly rental from anticipated revenues.

Meters will go into operation on North and South Park streets, Walnut, Main and Diamond, and Fourth, Third and Park avenue.

Parking time can be purchased on the basis of 12 minutes for one penny, 24 minutes for two pennies, 36 minutes for three pennies, 48 minutes for four pennies, or an hour for five pennies or a nickel.

BLAST KILLS OHIO WORKER

Hit By Door As Furnace In Factory Explodes.

SPRINGFIELD—(AP)—Carl Wilson, 30, was killed and Eldon Foster, 23, was injured slightly today in an explosion at the Airtool Manufacturing Co., where they are employed. Fire followed the blast causing damage estimated by Fire Chief Grover Frock at $500.

Wilson was hit by a door from a gas furnace, which blew up. Foster was struck by flying debris and burned when he pulled Wilson's body from the furnace room. Twenty-eight other employes of the company which makes boiler tube cleaners escaped unhurt.

Hunting Trip Ends In Tragedy

These pictures show the tragedy that struck a Pennsylvania family Sunday morning at Ontario while en route to their home from a hunting trip near Defiance. At the top is an interstate freight truck, its front running gear crumpled after it struck the light coach, below, the wrecked car of Ralph Shondell, Turtle Creek, Pa., who, state highway patrolmen said, pulled onto route 30-S from the Shelby-Ontario road into the path of the truck. At the left is Mrs. Shondell who was dead when extricated from the wreckage by passing motorists.

Mansfield Markets Offer Thanksgiving Dinner at $6

And The Price Could Be Less Than That Even With a 12-Pound Turkey And All The Trimmings.

One American tradition that is still intact in this tradition-breaking year is the annual family Thanksgiving feast which can be purchased in Mansfield for less than $6—including all the trimmings.

A Thanksgiving table laden with an abundance of food and blessed with tranquility is not unusual in the American scene, but this year it takes on a precious quality because of the sharp contrast with the want and desolation of other lands.

War has not touched the American diet, while in other parts of the world men, women and children are on restricted rations and in at least one country the sale of dog meat has been sanctioned through necessity.

A survey today of down town Mansfield markets gives an idea of what the housewife will encounter Wednesday when she shops for her holiday dinner. There is little change between prices this year and last and even a very limited budget will permit many of the traditional delicacies.

The bountiful 1940 harvests are going to market at peace-time prices, with increases dictated only by crop shortages.

Turkey, the glorified highlight of any Thanksgiving dinner, will sell at approximately 32 cents a pound, and a family of five may dine well on a 12 pound bird. So you can mark down $3.84 for the major item on your menu. The most expensive item—in compari-

Italians Say Bombers Attack Alexandria Harbor.

ROME—(AP)—The Italian high command reported today that a torpedo-dropping Italian warplane had torpedoed a British cruiser of the Leander type at the entrance of Alexandria harbor but failed to state whether she was badly damaged.

(Vessels of this class have an average displacement of about 7,000 tons and carry a normal complement of 550.)

Other ships in Alexandria harbor were hit by bombs, the communique said.

DUAL SLAYING

Young Mother and Single Man Killed in Parked Car.

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—With buckshot pellets as their only clues, police today pressed a search for the perpetrator of Hamilton township's third dual slaying in slightly more than two years.

The pellets were taken from the riddled bodies of Mrs. Carolina Moreoni, 24-year-old mother, and Ludovicum J. Kovacs, 25-year-old unmarried neighbor and WPA clerk, both of whom met death Saturday night as they sat in a parked car.

DIRE THREAT

Bridegroom Says Bath Every Six Months Enough.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—(AP)—A new version of "like father, like son" cropped up in domestic court when a 21-year-old bride of four months charged her spouse with threats and non-support.

"When I insisted he take a bath," she testified, "he told me that his father only took a bath every six months and what was good enough for his father was good enough for him."

U. S. Officials Confer With Both Sides In Vultee Strike

(By International News Service)

DOWNEY, Cal. — Armed with full details of the strike at the Vultee Aircraft company which has paralyzed production of $80,000,000 worth of defense orders for the United States and Great Britain, federal government representatives today sought an early end to the shutdown.

The agents, Major Sidney Simpson of the war department and Arnold Tolles of the labor commission, went into immediate conference with federal labor conciliators Lyman Sisley and Capt. Ed. H. Fitzgerald, already on the job.

They called a meeting of company officials and union representatives to hear both sides of the walkout and endeavor to bring about a permanent labor peace at the plant, fourth largest on the Pacific coast.

Both sides reported that no attempt was made to negotiate over the week-end Sunday passed without incident at the plant save for the arrival of 17 army officers from Moffett field who crossed picket lines, and took delivery of 17 basic training planes, completed for the army corps prior to the strike.

When the strike was called Friday by the United Automobile Workers union the union demanded the minimum hourly wage be raised from 50 cents to 65 cents. Later the demand was increased to 75 cents, but U.A.W. representatives expressed willingness to negotiate on any basis between 65 and 75 cents.

Of the 5200 employes at the plant, 3200 are claimed to be members of the striking union.

DRAFTEES SEEK AID OF BOARDS

Advisory Groups Start To Function, Helping To Fill Out Questionnaires.

Two of the three Richland county advisory boards for selective service registrants opened headquarters and went into action today as scores of men sought help in filling out their draft questionnaires.

Questionnaires had been mailed today to approximately 225 men in the county, but it was expected that only a few of them will be called for army training until after the first of the year.

Advisory boards in districts 2 and 3 in the county were in session today, but the board in district No. 1 had not organized and registrants in that district in the city were being referred to Atty. J. V. Will, a member of the board, for help in filling out their questionnaires. The other two members of the board are Henry G. Brunner and C. F. Routzahn. It was expected that the board will be functioning as a unit within the next day or two.

Advisory board No. 2 established headquarters temporarily on the third floor of the City building, while the No. 3 board is in the ap-

Four members of the plane's crew were reported killed and one injured. Italian uniforms and insignia were found in the wreckage. Yugoslav authorities began an inquiry at the site of the crash.

TALKS EASE TENSION

Leaders Meet Behind Closed Doors, Fight Out Issues Slated For Convention.

BULLETIN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(INS)—John L. Lewis formally announced to the CIO convention today that he will keep his promise to quit the CIO presidency, and will step out of office. "I won't be with you long," he said to the suddenly silent gathering. "I've done my work. In just a day or two I'll be out of this office I now occupy.

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—CIO legions from the factories, mines and maritime trades assembled in convention today with factional conflicts submerged for the moment and all eyes on John L. Lewis who may relinquish the CIO leadership in the same hall where he undertook it five years ago.

As Lewis followers worked up a fanfare for what appeared to be his last days as CIO's top man, well informed sources disclosed that Lewis and his opponents on some major policies already had fought out behind closed doors some issues slated for the convention floor.

In an executive session of CIO's national board, it was learned, Lewis engaged in warm debate with the followers of Vice President Sidney Hillman, labor member of the national defense commission, over financial reports and the creation of a finance committee. CIO does not make public its finances.

Labor leaders in the know said it was a session of "some pretty plain talking" on both sides which released some of the steam that might have exploded in the convention.

The best informed Lewis sources declared that some of the pre-convention tension between the Lewis and Hillman groups had been eased, although a floor fight in the convention was not unlikely on the program of Hillman's Amalgamated union resolutions to press for new unity conferences with the A.F.L. bar paid jobs in CIO offices to members of Com-

FARM PRICES

Grange Considers Proposals To Maintain Levels.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(AP)—The national Grange considered today two proposals designed to maintain farm price levels and to "allocate equitably" to each farmer in the nation a share of the domestic crop.

Shortly after Harry B. Caldwell, master of the North Carolina state Grange, proposed creation of national bargaining agencies to secure fair prices for all farm crops, Ervin King of the state of Washington urged a federal board to set state and county quotas of all crops.

King, whose proposal, along with Caldwell's, was to go before the Grange convention in the form of resolutions, asked that county committees of farmers allocate to each producer his share of the county quota, presumably based on production capacities.

Asserts He'll Not Turn Back In Greek Fight

Fascists Prepare to Resist Invasion Of Home Soil as Mussolini's Legions Stage Retreat From Albania

(By Associated Press)

Premier Mussolini swore today that "whatever happens, I will never turn back" in the Greek campaign; and even as he spoke, his Fascist invasion army was reported falling back to a new defense line 25 miles inside the Albanian frontier.

After three weeks of warfare, it appeared, the Italians are now preparing to resist a Greek counter-invasion.

Dispatches from Athens said that Mussolini's legions were retreating from the key city of Koritza; 10 miles inside Albania, and that a motorized column of 130 Italian tanks was cut off on a mountain road.

Greek troops had reached the gates of Koritza, it was said, with the Italians fighting a desperate rear-guard action to cover the withdrawal from the fortified city—which was to have been used as a springboard for a drive to the port of Salonika, in eastern Greece.

Other Greek troops reported successes all along the 100-mile front and declared that nearly all the fighting now was on Albanian soil.

Premier Mussolini's statement that he would "never turn back" was coupled with an assertion that the European war now could be concluded only "with the destruction of the modern Carthage—England."

Il Duce denied British claims that half of Italy's battleships were smashed in a raid on Taranto naval base last week, asserting only one warship was so badly damaged it could not be repaired in a short time.

The Fascist chieftain also warned his leaders that Italy must be prepared for "more severe" sacrifices, adding:

"We have a million men under arms and we could call eight million more."

He spoke on the fifth anniversary of the day 51 nations applied economic sanctions against Italy for her invasion of Ethiopia.

Indications of new Axis plans came meanwhile from Berchtesgaden, near Adolf Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat, as the Nazi fuehrer arranged to meet with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and Spanish Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner.

Diplomatic circles in Bern, Switzerland, often an accurate sounding-board, heard that the conferees would discuss Axis plans for a gigantic "squeeze play" on the Mediterranean through Gibraltar and Greece.

These sources envisaged a double-barreled assault through Spain against Gibraltar, which guards the west end of the Mediterranean, and through Bulgaria to out-flank and crush the Greeks.

A five-car party of German official photo and press experts—reputedly the same group which filmed and reported the Nazi blitzkrieg through the low countries and France last spring—was reported to have arrived at La Linea, near Gibraltar, ready for developments.

Amid routine Nazi air raids, London's air ministry Sunday night

CHARGES: Mexican Officer Says U. S. Boat Halted Nazis

(By International News Service)

TAMPICO, Mexico — Newspapers in Tampico, quoting Capt. Cuauhtemoc Perez of the Mexican gunboat Queretaro, charged today that American destroyers intercepted four fleeing German freighters off the Mexican coast on Saturday.

One of the German ships was scuttled by her own crew.

(Editor's note: Officials of the navy and state departments in Washington had nothing to say regarding the Tampico newspaper charges.)

Members of the Queretaro's crew, it was claimed, identified one of the vessels as the American destroyer Plunkett.

According to the newspaper accounts Perez declined to elaborate upon his identification of the intercepting warships or to say whether they had entered Mexican territorial waters, as was claimed by the masters of the four German ships.

Perez said he would send a full report on this incident to the Mexican government immediately.

Three United States destroyers appeared off Tampico yesterday.

It was believed they were inspecting the scene where the German vessels were intercepted.

According to German sources the freighters were intercepted by five British or Canadian warships, causing one of the merchant vessels to be scuttled and the others

WHY?: Reason For Speech By Mussolini Not Explained

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
(AP Foreign Affairs Writer)

Mussolini's speech is interesting and important for two reasons: (1) Why he made it at all; (2) What he didn't say.

This was the first time Il Duce had chosen to break his sphinx-like silence since he threw in his lot with the Germans for better or worse last June 10 and joined in the assault against France and Britain. Why did he find it necessary to speak out now to tell his people that his high command had been telling the truth about the damage which British aerial torpedoes did to Italy's battleships at Taranto? Or to declare, "Whatever happens, I will never turn back" in Greece?

The logical answer is that Italians have been cupping a defeatist ear to the British radio and then asking each other: "What are we getting out of this war but trouble? Where are our victories? Why did we get into it, anyway?"

Mussolini, himself, referred to the "English loud speaker" and he took pains to give his people these answers to their unspoken questions: That only a few of their fathers, sons and brothers are dying in the cruel mountains of the Greek frontier; that only one battleship was badly damaged at Taranto; that no lightning triumph must be expected to rise from the mud and crags of Epirus and the Pindus; that Britain started the whole thing by really "attacking" Italy five years ago; that the Greeks hated Italy and conspired with Britain to beat her.

What Mussolini did not say was, how he and Adolf Hitler proposed to get Italy out of the slump she is in. Il Duce did, it is true, promise to start his troops on the march again in the western Egyptian desert, on the way toward Suez, but it is clear now that a resumption of this offensive depends upon fracture of British sea power in the Mediterranean and easement of the difficult Italian situation on the Greek-Albanian border.

Magician Back In Jail Again, Faces Non-Support Count

Roscoe Kauffman, 44, Elyria magician, who admitted defrauding Bellville merchants of about $18 more than a year ago, was back in the Richland county jail today after serving a workhouse sentence and terms in two county jails.

Returned here yesterday from Kenton by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Gongwer, Kauffman was held for Lorain county authorities who were to take him to Elyria to face a non-support charge. The Lorain county warrant has been in the hands of authorities here for more than a year.

Kauffman angered Bellville residents and disappointed a number of children in the village when he failed to show up for a Halloween performance in the school auditorium last year.

He collected the money from village merchants who had agreed to sponsor a magic show to keep the children off the streets Halloween night.

After serving a sentence in the Columbus workhouse for the Bellville episode, Kauffman was released to Crawford county authorities who wanted him on a similar charge. He served a jail term there and was released to Hardin county where he had also done his "disappearing act." He completed his jail term in Kenton, Hardin county seat, yesterday.

First Conscription Contingent of 19,700 Being Picked

CLOCK GIVES NEW ENGLAND DRAFT HONOR

Enlistments Reduce Initial Quota From 30,000 For Dec. 1 Call.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Led by New England, home of the "minute men" in a bygone defense era, the nation began mustering into service today the first conscription program contingent of 19,700.

New England could thank the clock for the distinction of being first. Actual induction of trainees for a year's training also started at Chicago and on the Pacific coast, but difference in time zones gave New England the chance to start earliest.

As the first young men were getting ready to start toward camp, war department spokesmen disclosed that instead of the original estimate of 30,000, only 19,700 trainees would be put into uniform by Dec. 1.

The reduction, officials explained, was due chiefly to the large number of recruits signing up recently for three-year "hitches" in the regular army.

Only three army corps areas figured in the start of inductions today. The 1st corp area—embracing the six New England states—had a quota of 984, and predicted a good many of the youths would be completely outfitted and in camps by nightfall. At Chicago, headquarters of the 6th corp area, an even 100 were to be sworn in. Induction stations in the far west were ready for the first of the 1,630 men from the states of the 9th corp area. It will be several days before the task in these areas is finished.

After this limited start, the selective service machinery will pick up speed in the next week with the rapid extension of induction work to other areas. Its job is to have 800,000 men receiving military training by next June 30.

Upon completion of the first call for trainees, army sources estimated they would have approximately 511,000 men under arms, plus their officers.

By December, the army's plans call for the 5th corps area, comprising Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, to induct 1,718 men.

The army's induction timetable for the rest of this week calls for the 5th corps area to begin taking men tomorrow at Fort Hayes, Columbus, O., Fort Thomas, Ky.; Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.; and at Huntington and Clarksburg, W. Va. The Ohio inductions, running from Nov. 19 to 25, will mean army life for 172 men, Indiana's 395, and West Virginia's 155.

Chemical Firm's Third Explosion Probed

Up and Down THE STREET

When the United States Navy makes up its mind to do something, it apparently doesn't waste any time getting it done. Last week recruiting officials from this area announced that a permanent recruiting station would be opened here this week in the basement of the postoffice building. This morning workmen were on the job, painting the walls and laying floor covering for the new office. Several file cabinets and other office equipment, ordered last week, were also moved into the postoffice today. A heating system will be installed soon, recruiting officials said.

The most discourteous woman in Mansfield, according to Red Cross Roll Call officials, is the one who slammed the door in the face of one of the town's young and loyal workers. The girl works every year for Red Cross, going out in all kinds of weather, walking from door to door, soliciting memberships for the most famous mercy organization in the world. And of course her services, like all Roll Call workers, are given to the organization. She called at a home on the west side of town (north of Park avenue) and when she mentioned Red Cross the woman slammed the door in her face. This sort of treatment happens so rarely over a period of years, officials say, that all workers were eager to learn the name of the woman and were pouring over the city directory this morning to trace the address.

Benjamin Contra, 61 West Sixth street, who recently had a novel accepted for publication, turns out his literary product with the speed of an assembly line. Fortuny's Publishers, New York, announced several weeks ago that the Mansfielder's first novel was in process of publication. Today comes an announcement that a second novel is completed. It is entitled "The Intriguers" and deals with national defense, through the activities of a young draftee in the Secret Service. His first novel, "Burning Sands," is a story of the African desert.

VIEW BODY

Hundreds Seek To Identify Willard Suicide Victim.

WILLARD—Hundreds of persons viewed the body of Willard's "mystery" suicide victim Sunday, but the body was still unidentified today.

The body, which is at a Willard funeral home, was found hanging from a tree in a woods west of Willard last Friday. Hunters found it and notified authorities.

It was believed that the victim might be a transient who called at several Willard homes Friday to ask for food. There was nothing in the man's pockets to establish identification.

The man was about 60 years old, weighed 160 pounds, and had thin, gray hair. Fingerprints were sent to the FBI for checking against those held by the federal agency.

CIO IN SESSION, EYES ON LEWIS

munist, Nazi and Fascist organizations, and make the acts of the CIO president subject to executive committee approval.

Hillman, himself, has declared he did not expect the organization to be split apart by convention issues, and from the Lewis side came expressions of confidence that floor disagreements would not result in a break in CIO.

Lewis' retirement as CIO president was promised by him in a thunderous appeal for Wendell L. Willkie's election 10 days before the November balloting. He coupled with it a lashing attack on President Roosevelt and his government policies.

Philip Murray, a Roosevelt supporter, and one of Lewis' closest friends in the labor movement for 30 years, is generally regarded by the delegates as most likely successor should Lewis resign.

Hillman, who plans to retire as CIO vice president because of his national defense commission duties, indicated that Murray would be the choice of all factions.

"Murray is held in high esteem," Hillman told newspapermen, "and if he is a candidate, we will support him."

In his annual report, Lewis advocated a program calling for "a progressive raising of real wages and purchasing power, for the absorption of all the unemployed through reduced working hours and expanded production, and for legislature to insure security and opportunity for young and old people, the unemployed and all the needy who are not otherwise provided for."

AFL Sees Little Chances of Peace

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—The 60th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened today with leaders calling upon members to keep "exploiters and gangsters" out of union jobs.

There were signs everywhere that the convention's acts would be influenced by the decisions made at the convention of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in Atlantic City, but even the most optimistic AFL leaders saw little possibility of peace in labor's war.

Peace will be urged by President Roosevelt in a letter to the convention. His plea, it was reported, will be based on the need of uniting labor for the good of the defense program. Through President William Green, who keynotes the convention today, the federation will disclaim responsibility for the war and announce again that its peace committee is ready and willing to meet with CIO negotiators any time, any place.

AFL leaders believed that Lewis' resignation as CIO head, would contribute toward a settlement.

WEAK ROOFS URGED AS REASON FOR ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gathering to resume regular sessions after the five-week election holiday, congress heard the condition of the capitol roof cited today as one more reason why speedy adjournment should be voted.

Rep. McCormack (D.,Mass.), newly chosen house Democratic leader, introduced the roof into an adjournment issue controversy which has suffered no lack of arguments pro and con.

"Experts say the conditions of the roofs over both the senate and house chambers are very dangerous," the house Democratic leader told reporters.

"A heavy snow storm could cave them both in."

Congress voted funds to replace the roofs. This repair work would take several weeks and might not be possible if congress remained in session until the new session opens in January.

McCormack said he was confident that enough Democrats would be in the house by Tuesday to pass a sine die adjournment resolution and send it on to the senate.

"There is no reason for us to stay in session," he said.

Rep. Martin (R.,Mass), house Republican leader and chairman of the Republican national committee, promised solid opposition to any adjournment plans. The opposition contends congress should stay on the job in case of emergency.

The senate faced a demand from supporters of the controversial Walter-Logan bill for a vote on that legislation, already passed by the house. Administration leaders have opposed senate action, describing the legislation as an attempt to hamstring numerous semi-judicial agencies created under President Roosevelt.

The bill, which has the support of several Democratic senators, is designed to standardize procedure in many government agencies and also to expedite court appeals from their decisions and regulations.

BLAST WRECKS BIG BUILDING, $250,000 LOSS

Sabotage Claimed In Fire Which Sweeps Another Bomb Factory.

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH—The third mysterious explosion within a week in a plant of the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corporation baffled investigators today while a bomb factory owner charged sabotage in the destruction of his concern by fire.

The terrific blast at the chemical corporation's nearby Bridgeville works yesterday injured two workmen and caused $250,000 damage to one of the largest of 45 buildings on the 65-acre grounds. A minor blaze was extinguished quickly.

Two hours earlier, fire swept the small plant of the Pennsylvania Chemical company at Johnstown, 80 miles away. Michael Bozich, the owner, declared it was "arson with the intention of sabotage," and set the loss at $13,000.

Bozich said his company was working on a government order for incendiary bombs to be delivered to the army proving grounds. He claimed that tests proved his bombs—one pound in weight and 15 inches long—were three times more effective than any others now in use.

Glass of the window nearest the origin of the fire was found inside the ruins. Bozich told state police, while that of other windows was found outside. He added that a steel folding chair taken from the debris did not belong to him and that he never had such a chair in the building.

The Bridgeville blast was heard throughout a radius of more than five miles. Plant Manager Oscar Luft said he had "no idea" what caused the explosion and declared it was "extremely fortunate" that additional workmen were not hurt by the great chunks of falling steel and concrete.

There were 100 to 150 workmen on duty at the time but only 25 in the 600 by 100-foot building which Luft described as "half-demolished." John Pinto, 45, was treated for a dislocated shoulder and Calvin Herron, 40, for cuts and bruises.

Luft said the plant had no national defense contracts.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Many Happy Returns.

(The Column's Second Birthday.)

Just two years ago, this column began commenting on Broadway chatter, with little legends fresh off the Bright Street grapevine, with minor gossip hot off the Times Square griddle. The typewriters has grown a little older and so has Broadway, but Broadway has not changed much, except to grow a little gayer, a little wilder over the rhumba, a little more extravagant with the electricity.

A columnist who watches this fabulous street and its tributaries midnight after midnight learns things about it and about its people. They are not important things, most of them, but they make amusing data for those who record the wonderful trivial history of Broadway.

I have learned, for instance, that most debutantes who haunt the bistros don't drink champagne—but rather cokes or Scotch. . . . That the fastest waiter on the Stem is "Swifty" in Lindy's . . . That the Paramount clock is nothing to set your watch by . . . That one of the ushers at Radio City is writing a play.

That Sherman Billingsley, proprietor of the Stork club, often changes suits three and four times an evening, but no one ever notices it, because the suits are all alike. . . . That Katharine Hepburn really does wear pants on some evenings when she comes into "21."

That Jinx Falkenberg's hips are two inches wider than most models. . . . That there is little swing left on Swing Street. . . . And that Broadway Rose really can't understand why Abe Lyman doesn't adore her.

It is no secret to me now that some handsome young gentlemen who became cafe society favorites are really "fronts" for mob guys—that the names by which you know these young gentlemen really aren't their names at all, and that they are candidates for a jail cell.

The Lucius Beebe won't ride in flying machines. . . . That Cary Grant knows a parlor trick with a one-dollar bill. . . . That Monty Woolley is not a member of the W. C. T. U. . . . That Marlene Dietrich likes to wear furs to her heels, and that her hats cost $40.

That the girls like Charlie Chaplin. . . . That there are places which stay open and serve liquor after curfew, and places where you can gamble your shirt on the wheels that spin and sing. . . . And that Orson Welles has charm.

I know that dime-a-dance halls aren't wicked at all, but much more sedate than many of the cover charge salons. . . . That only college boys, sports writers and visiting firemen sit at bars. . . . That Brenda Frazier is really beautiful.

That Oscar Levant is really funny. . . . That Charles Boyer is more romantic with his bald spot showing than most glamor boys are in their widow's peaks. . . .

That every afternoon at five, precisely, one cafe-minded pigeon struts into the Stork club to be fed among the debutantes by Jimmy, the silver-haired captain.

That Paula Laurence, the Ruban Bleu entertainer, never appears in public without a snood or a hood. . . . That most chorus girls are very moral and ride home in the subway.

I have discovered that dancers never listen to girl singers who croon with bands. . . . That El Morocco looks better in stripes than The Other Way. . . . That backgammon is Marc Connelly's favorite way of losing money. . . . That Milton Berle's mother is not a high-priced stooge, but really his mother.

That when Zorina walks across a stage and halts suddenly, there are springs in her toes. . . . That Hope Hampton doesn't smoke. . . . That Mickey Rooney likes to drive a roadster at a speed that makes M-G-M's hair stand on end.

That the loudest applause in New York cinema theaters goes to Donald Duck. . . . That when Bruce Cabot drinks champagne it brings out the Indian in him. . . . And that Dwight Deere Wiman likes to play musical chairs.

I've found out that John Jacob Astor, in public, always looks sleepy and bored, never wears garters, and almost invariably smokes a cigar. . . . That Miriam Hopkins is as temperamental as actresses are traditionally supposed to be—especially to waiters, maids and bus boys.

That at least one-third of the audience is always late at Broadway opening nights. . . . That, although no smoking is allowed in theater lobbies, lobbies are where the best people always smoke. . . . That Mrs. Orson Munn puts Christmas ribbon on her earrings to make them look bigger.

That Georgie Jessel (before he was married) liked to tell you how many femmes were daffy over him. . . . That in some poses, Esme O'Brien looks like Judy Garland. . . . And that there is no dish like Chicken Reubenola at Reuben's.

I have observed that Arlene Judge quivers when she rhumbas . . . That Eddy Duchin is a baby-picture shower. . . . That out-of-towners on a spree have their best fun at Leon and Eddies. . . . That Frank Farrell has never been caught in public with an ugly girl.

That it is no fun seeing a show from the first row—the sixth is much better. . . That Tommy Manville pays his secretary $75 a week—and in dollars, not orchids. . . . That Ed Wynn is a very funny fellow on the stage—and that his acting shoes are the most fantastic mosaics in town.

That Irene, the hat check girl at the Barberry Room, writes a gossip column which is privately circulated. . . . That the Broadway mob talks more about Quentin Reynolds than any other absentee, including Noel Coward and Beatrice Lillie.

That Joan Bennett wears a gold wedding ring, the kind your grandmother wore. . . . And that on Broadway, most things happen—most hearts are broken, most loves are plighted, most torches are carried, most headlines are made—between the hours of eleven and two.

Many happy returns.

Frances G. (Billy) Nunmaker and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Nunmaker arm-in-arm on Park avenue west Sunday, stopping now and then to tell friends how much she enjoys her work with the state library association. Frances works in Columbus and Minnie in Canton but they maintain their Mansfield apartment.

* *

Edward Dunn and daughter, Dorothy, back home after a week-end in Dayton, and reporting that Mrs. Dunn had remained for the rest of the week . . . Louise Reese, Bess Wimbigler, Marjorie Ludwig, Dorothy McCullough and several other down-town women workers coming from their daily breakfast club meeting at the Parkway.

Sectional Football Championships Being Decided

Only One Sure

Minnesota Annexes Big Ten Crown; Stanford Sure To Gain Tie.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON

NEW YORK — (AP) — Thanksgiving day no longer marks the end of the football season, but it's close enough that most of the major conference and sectional championships will be decided this week.

The list of undefeated and untied college teams now includes Boston college, Cornell, Lafayette, Tennessee, Minnesota, Texas Aggies, Hardin-Simmons, and Stanford. There are 10 others in the small college class.

Cornell's national title position is questionable as a result of claims that the Ithacans beat Dartmouth, 7-3, on a touchdown score on an illegal fifth down.

Minnesota's 33-6 victory over Purdue Saturday clinched the Western conference crown for the Gophers; Stanford, 28-14 victor over Oregon State, can't get worse than a tie for the Pacific Coast conference title and Texas A and M. in the southwest and Utah in the Big Seven are in the same position.

Clemson in the Southern conference and Tennessee in the Southeastern can clinch their championships this week.

With Cornell's position still in dispute, Boston college stepped to the forefront in the east with a 19-18 victory over Georgetown. Boston plays Auburn this week.

Cornell, slightly discredited by its showing against the weak Dartmouth outfit, gets its comeback chance Saturday against Pennsylvania. Penn, once beaten and once tied, trounced Army 48-0.

Harvard, 14-0 winner over Brown, meets Yale, which lost 10-7 to Princeton, on Saturday Princeton winds up against Army, Brown plays Dartmouth, Columbia, which battled Navy to an 0-0 tie, meets Colgate, 7-6 winner over Syracuse. Penn State victor over New York U. by 25-0, tackles Pittsburgh, which held Nebraska to a 9-7 decision, and Georgetown faces George Washington which beat Kansas 6-0.

The Big Ten campaign winds up with Minnesota seeking its eighth straight victory against Wisconsin, which turned in a 27-19 victory over Indiana Michigan, which put Northwestern out of the race with a 20-13 triumph, meets Ohio State, 14-6 winner over Illinois. Iowa, after dropping Notre Dame out of the undefeated class for the second year, 7-0, faces Illinois while Northwestern plays the Irish and Indiana meets Purdue.

Nebraska, which still has to win two Six Six games to take the conference title outright, goes after one against Iowa State, 12-0 winner over Kansas State.

Other interesting games send St Louis university against unbeaten Texas Tech Thursday, Detroit, 13-7 victim of Gonzaga, against Marquette, 7-6 winner over Michigan State, and Michigan State against West Virginia, which beat Kentucky 9-7.

Mississippi and Mississippi State will do as much to settle the Southeastern conference race as will Tennessee's clash with Kentucky. The Vols look good as far the best in the circuit since their 31-11 victory over Virginia.

Clemson, despite its 12-12 tie with Southwestern, can win the Southern conference title by disposing of Furman, 25-7 winner over South Carolina. Duke's 11-game string of conference victories was snapped by North Carolina, 6-3.

On the records Stanford has a real lock on the conference crown but the formality of the season and casting ballot California Stanford opponent, beat

MOOSE POSTPONE MATCHES

COACHES NOT MEETING

The Downtown Coaches association will not hold its regular meeting at the Mansfield Senior gymnasium tonight, it was announced today by Joe G. Blahnik, association president. An announcement will be made later this week concerning a meeting

City League Officials To Complete Schedule.

Officials and team captains in the City Class A basketball league will assemble at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday to complete plans for the 1940-41 season, which is scheduled to open Dec. 3. A schedule will be drawn up at the meeting. The referee will also be selected from a list of candidates.

Aggies Have a Combine

McLemore Says It's the Greatest Football Team In U. S.

By HENRY McLEMORE

COLLEGE STATION, Texas—(U P)—I wouldn't know about right now, but between the hours of 2:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. last Saturday, the Texas Aggies had the best football team in the United States.

* * *

During those three hours the Aggies were the perfect combination of power and deception.

When Rice (a team that was good enough to lick Texas, Arkansas, and L. S. C., among others) closed in with what amounted to an eight-man line to stop John Kimbrough, Jack Thomason, Marion Pugh and Bill Conaiser from running, the Aggies took to the air with the assurance of transport pilots.

When Rice spread out in an attempt to stop the devastating passing the Aggies just gave the ball to Kimbrough and he ran.

That's the nice thing about the Aggies. They'll let you choose your own method of destruction. If you want to get it over with in a hurry, you defend against the running attack and get passed dizzy. Most teams choose this method. It is much less painful than having the Aggie backs, led by the country's No. 1 All-American, Kimbrough, beat your brains out in three-quarter time.

Kimbrough still continues to amaze your correspondent. He was terrific against S. M. U. a week ago on a wet field but against Rice he was plum astounding.

The Rice line is better than S. M. U.'s, but Big John had a dry field to work on, and, given a secure footing, a footing which allows him to get that initial leg thrust, lines mean nothing to him.

Not once, but half a dozen times against Rice, I saw Kimbrough cornered by two, three and four tacklers. Big tacklers, too, men of 190, 195 and 200 pounds. One by one they would hit him, and one by one they would bounce off, dazed and hurt.

Kimbrough had a lot of help in licking Rice 25 to 0. There was the Aggie line to start with, and there was a young man named Bill (Jitterbug) Henderson who caught eight successive passes for a total gain of 117 yards.

Bill is just a sophomore, and never had played football until he came to College Station, but he'll make a hundred All-America's before he quits.

* * *

The man who pitched the strikes to Henderson was Pugh, and if the pro boys are looking for a quarterback who can think as well as pitch Pugh is the boy.

Zivic Examined After Fight

Lying on a stretcher, Fritzie Zivic, welterweight champion, is shown being examined for injuries after the wild two-round non-title fight in New York City which Zivic won when Al Davis struck eight foul blows in the second round. Dr. William H. Walker, the New York boxing commission physician, said the champion would be out of action for a month as a result of his injuries. Davis will be barred from the ring in New York for life, according to Commissioner D. Walker Wear of the state athletic commission.

Wilson Likely to Be Chicago Manager

CHICAGO—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson, Cincinnati player-coach and hero of the 1940 World Series, will be the new manager of the Chicago Cubs if he wants the job.

He has been chosen to pull the team out of the second division and put it back in its usual rank as a National league pennant contender, but the deal has not been completed.

Wilson was here today for a conference with Philip K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, on terms of a managerial contract. It is expected that he will agree to take the post vacated by Gabby Hartnett at a salary in the neighborhood of $25,000.

James T. Gallagher, newly-appointed general manager of the Cubs, said last night that the job was Wilson's for the taking and that no difficulty was anticipated in coming to terms with the 40-year-old veteran of 18 years in the majors.

Hartnett was fired last Wednesday as the first step in a general reorganization of the Cubs, ending the big catcher's 19-year regime with the club.

If Wilson accepts the post — and there is small chance he will refuse—it will be his second role as a big league pilot. He managed the Philadelphia Phillies for five years, but never could get the club above seventh place. Under him the Phils finished seventh thrice and eighth twice.

He electrified the baseball world in the last world series when he forsook coaching in an emergency and returned to catching, sparking the Reds to the world's championship.

Wilson has a fine reputation as a handler of pitchers, his most notable protege being Bucky Walters, the Cincinnati ace. Wilson persuaded Walters to switch from the infield to the pitcher's mound when both were on the Philly payroll.

Battle Royal On Club Card

Five Wrestlers to See Action on Weekly Wrestling Card.

There will be plenty of action on tap for Mansfield wrestling fans who attend the weekly wrestling show tonight at the Sapiano-Doebla Athletic club East Third street.

As this week's top attraction, Promoter Bob Steele has booked five well known "grunt and groan artists" to appear in a "battle royal."

Heading the group of wrestlers appearing in the feature attraction are Buck Weaver and the Black Panther. Also appearing on the card will be Gail LaCross, Jimmy Goodrich and Tony Leoni.

Weaver won the decision over Billy Fay in the main event of last week's show at the club. Tomorrow night will be ladies' night at the club, according to Steele. All women accompanied by a man will be admitted free, Steele said. The show is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p. m.

Women presenting a copy of this story at the door tonight will be admitted to the wrestling show free as a special womens night courtesy Steele announced.

Scores Pair of Markers

Mansfield Halfback Crosses Carrollton Goal Line In Semi-Pro Tilt.

THE Mansfield Automotive Supply semi-pro football machine brought its 1940 home season to a close yesterday with a 14 to 0 victory over the Carrollton Indians at the Fairground before a disappointing gathering.

With Al Schwaner leading the way, the Supplies, after taking a 2-0 lead in the second period, pushed over a touchdown in the third and fourth stanzas as they marked up their third straight victory.

In the other half of the doubleheader, the Eagles Lodge bantamweights battled the touted Riggs Electric team of Akron to a scoreless tie.

The Mansfield semi-pro outfit had their scoring machine working to perfection in the second half. Twice after hitting pay dirt the team saw its attack stopped by the stout Carrollton line on the Indians' two-foot line.

Three Supply linemen broke through to tackle the Indians' quarterback behind the line in the second frame for the safety.

Then in the third frame, Schwaner, aided by some nifty ball packing by Kenny Lockhart, moved 40 yards to score. Schwaner, a threat all afternoon, hit the line for eight yards and the first touchdown. His try for the point was wide.

Midway in the fourth chapter, the Supplies moved 50 yards to set the stage for the final tally. Schwaner went over from the five and his kick for the extra point was low.

Carrollton, suffering its first defeat of the season, stormed back late in the fourth but a pass interception on the Mansfield 10 yard stripe halted the rally. A little earlier the Supplies intercepted an aerial on the Mansfield 20 to stop another threat.

* * *

Mansfield marked 11 first downs to Carrollton's six.

Wittenberg Captain Annexes State-Wide Scoring Lead

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Over in Springfield, where Coach Bill Stobbs has constructed a state and Ohio conference pace-setting Wittenberg college football team, they are singing the praises of John Kostyo, halfback and captain of the Lutherans.

* * *

John took his mates on a personally-conducted touchdown tour Saturday against Mount Union, annexing the state-wide scoring lead for himself with two touchdowns for a 63-point total, and giving the Lutherans a hefty edge in the state and conference races.

In addition to his two markers, Kostyo tossed aerials to End Chatlain for the other two and then booted a pair of extra points for a full dozen. The victory kept the Lutherans' ledger clear for the campaign with seven straight conquests, six of them in the league.

Wilberforce, with six victories, is "clean" for the season but the other 35 squads in the Buckeye realm have hoped in defeat. Only one game remains in the conference, Wittenberg meeting Heidelberg Thursday, with the Lutherans favored to continue their winning ways.

Kostyo's scoring splurge against the hapless Mounts (they've lost eight and tied one) pushed him around Kent State's 145-pound Mickey Mittiga for the point-getting lead, Mickey counting once against Baldwin Wallace to reach 38, five off the pace. Each has scored nine touchdowns, but Mittiga has played two more games, and Kostyo has a nine to four edge in extra points.

Schnebly of Wilberforce is the state's outstanding goal after touchdown kicker with 14, while Charley Maag of Ohio State boasts three field goals to lead in that department.

* * *

Runners-up in the goal after touchdown list are Marty Vardaro of Youngstown and Ohio State's Don Scott, each with 11.

Meder Paces Bissman Team to Loop Win

'Sonny' Hits 674 Total As His Team Takes Two Games From Bellevue Keglers.

WHEN some team threatens to overtake the pace-making Bissman company bowling team in the North Central Ohio Traveling league, the Mansfielders just step out and rattle the pins. The Bissman team tackled the Bellevue Eagles in a match at the Meder Recreation alleys Sunday and after a slow start walked off with two games.

Bellevue came through with a 941 total to take the initial game, and then the Bissman keglers, led by Clarence "Sonny" Meder, busted the maples in splendid fashion.

* * *

Meder, who smashed out a brilliant 674, piled up his total on games of 205, 246 and 223.

The Bissman team hit 1073 in the middle game and 1022 in the final session to emerge with a spectacular 3030 total.

Trailing Meder in the individual scoring was Johnny Leppo and Winnie Cleckner. Johnny put together games of 210, 227 and 173 for a 610, while Cleckner got a 603 on games of 171, 204, and 228.

Palluch led the losers with a 641. He had games of 232, 228 and 181.

Toot that whistle! Ring that bell! Dartmouth also stopped Cornell! Princeton barely beat the Yales by letting Peters tote the mails. And did John Harvard go to down in winning 14-0 from Brown? . . . What a dizzy football day for addicts in the U. S. A., for take our word, it was no fluke when Carolina upset Duke; nor when Iowa leaped to fame by halting Notre Dame. Grid Leaders Not Changed

Jackie Hunt, Marshall, Still Tops Scorers With 138.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The names and positions were the same in the race for national football scoring honors today but the figures were changed all down the line.

Jackie Hunt, fullback from Marshall college of West Virginia, topped conference and sectional leaders.

Hunt made four touchdowns against Xavier Saturday to bring his season's total to 138 points. He has made 23 touchdowns in nine games, failing to score in only one of them.

Second place among the sectional leaders went to Michigan's Tommy Harmon, whose eight points against Northwestern gave him a total of 95 and undisputed leadership of the mid-western area.

Chicago Drops Contest

Bears Suffer 7-3 Defeat Against Powerful Washington Club.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Chicago Bears have a little unfinished business with the Washington Redskins and hope to settle it next month.

The once-defeated Redskins whipped the Bears Sunday, 7 to 3. The outcome left the victors a virtual cinch to win the eastern division championship, needing only one more triumph in two remaining games for the clincher.

The Bears, having won six of nine engagements, still lead Green Bay, which lost to New York, 7 to 3, in a dull game. Each team has two games to go, with the Chicagoans heavily favored to take the western sectional title and thereby qualify to meet the easterners for the championship in December.

Brooklyn lambasted the Cleveland Rams, 29 to 14, for its sixth win in nine games. The Dodgers spotted the invaders two touchdowns before Ace Parker took charge.

He ran 68 yards with an intercepted pass for the first marker, passed for the next two, set up the fourth with a 38-yard run and held the ball when Ralph Kercheval booted a 45-yard field goal.

Detroit humbled the last place Philadelphia eleven, 21 to 0, leaving the hapless Eagles without a win in nine games.

The Boston Bears finally snapped the Columbus Bulls' nine-game winning streak, but the bulls still lead the American Professional Football league race.

Checking the Columbus ground and aerial attacks, the Bears held the league-pacers to a 0-0 tie in Columbus yesterday. It was the only league game of the day, snow forcing indefinite postponement of a Buffalo game.

In an exhibition contest at Milwaukee, the Kenosha Cardinals slapped down the Milwaukee Chiefs 13 to 3.

Promoter Says Basketball Is The Fastest Growing Sport

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK—(INS)—What is the fastest growing game in the United States?

The answer, Ned Irish assured us today, is basketball.

Ned is to basketball what Mike Jacobs is to boxing and on that ground might be suspected of prejudice, but he offers some interesting figures to bolster his contention

For instance, Ned says only 48 per cent of the nation's colleges play football whereas 98 per cent of them play basketball Moreover, he declared that more than twice as many play basketball and the cage game fans outnumber the gridiron devotees far more than two to one

The impending intercollegiate basketball season will see more intersectional games than ever before, and Irish has already booked 21 teams from every section of the country for games in Madison Square Garden. He assures us the total gates of these games alone will top $350 000

Unlike Mike Jacobs, who never goes out on a limb in picking winners of the fights he stages, brother Irish without any compunction whatever, names the following teams as probably the strongest in their respective sections:

Santa Clara avers Mr. Irish, was the best college team in the country last year, and has lost only one man, from 1939's great squad. It figures to be best again.

He likes Rhode Island State, the highest scoring team, to rule New England. This team never bothers about defense; its sole object being to outscore the other team.

Around this section he picks Long Island university, St. Johns and N. Y. U. as standouts. In the Big Ten he likes Indiana and he wishes to challenge the widely accepted belief that Indiana is more basketball-conscious than any other state. Several others rate just as highly in Mr. Irish's book.

* * *

He likes Oregon in the northwest. Colorado in the Rocky mountain region Kansas in the Big Six, Rice in the southwest, Duquesne in the Pittsburgh district. De Paul in the Chicago section and North Carolina down south.

Galion High To Play 17 Cage Games

Engage Willard In Opening Tilt Dec. 13 on Galion Junior High Court.

GALION — There are 17 games on Galion high school's basketball schedule this season, with a possibility of several more to be added, according to a schedule announced by school officials yesterday.

The opening game will be played on Friday, Dec. 13, with Dave Query's Willard team on the Junior high school court here.

From a nucleus of two veterans, Howard Dewalt and Ted Carmel, the Galion team is being formed, practices having been held during the past week. Clarence Mackey is head coach, while Robert Brown is coach of the reserve squad, and Paul Mackey is coaching the Junior high squad.

Players from the last year's reserve squad who will probably see positions on the varsity team were John Auer, Bill Allwine, Jim Gilson and Junior Schreck.

BOSTON COLLEGE LEADS UNDEFEATED GRID TEAMS

NEW YORK—(AP)—Notre Dame and Georgetown were among the football powers knocked off the list of undefeated and untied teams last week and despite close calls for some others, 18 boasted clean slates today.

Boston College, winner over Georgetown, 19-18, in the only battle between unbeaten and untied teams, moved to the top of the list with its eighth straight victory and a scoring record of 280 points to 45 for its opponents

COUNTY WILLKIE CLUB WINDS UP WITH BALANCE

Lists Donations of $559 and Expenditures of $484 In Unsuccessful Campaign.

The Richland County Willkie club, which conducted a vigorous campaign for the G. O. P. presidential candidate, had a balance of $74.43 at the close of the campaign, the club's financial report submitted to the county election board showed yesterday.

Donations amounting to $559 were made to the club and expenditures totaled $484. Contributions ranged from a few cents to $37.50. The balance will be used for "future activities of the club" the report said.

Twelve more candidates had filed their expense reports with the election board yesterday and others were still due, although Saturday was the filing deadline. There is no penalty for late filing.

Candidates who submitted reports and the amounts they spent and received in the campaign were:

C. L. Shoup, Republican, defeated for county commissioner, $174, no receipts; D. D. Orewiler, Democrat, elected county recorder, $153, no receipts; Ray Hout, Democrat, elected commissioner, $193, no receipts; G. W. Marriott, Democrat, defeated for probate judge, $382, no receipts; Harold T. Lutz, Democrat, elected prosecutor, $411, no receipts; Harry Orewiler, Republican, defeated for commissioner, $245, no receipts; Frank Robinson, Democrat, elected sheriff, $246, no receipts; Guy Stewart, Democrat, elected commissioner, $198, no receipts.

Stuart H. Cramer, elected probate judge, $432, contributions totaling $75; John L. Catlett, Republican, elected state representative, $282, no receipts; L. L. Kochenderfer, Republican, defeated for recorder, $222, no receipts; Dr. F. M. Wadsworth, Republican, defeated for coroner, $11, no receipts.

The Citizens Committee For the One-Mill Levy in Mansfield reported spending $301 in an unsuccessful campaign in behalf of the proposed levy for additional fire and police protection and improvements at the airport.

W. H. Hipp, Mansfield restaurant proprietor, reported to the board that he spent $52 in a campaign for Howard Wenning, his son-in-law, for clerk of courts. Wenning, a Democrat, was elected. Hipp said $2 of his expenditures was used to finance the distribution of sample ballots which were ruled illegal by the board of elections.

Abducted, Rescued

Mrs. Beatrice de Camp, 18, wife of a soldier, was rescued by New Jersey state troopers from a lonely cabin where she had been held in terror of her life at gun-point since abduction from her mother's home at Medford. Woodburn Miller, 20, is held.

LEADING ISSUES STAGING MILD RALLY TODAY

Steels, Motors In Group Given Early Support In Market; Bonds Not Developing.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Mild rallying inclinations were displayed by leading stocks in today's market.

Early support was accorded U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber common and preferred, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, General Electric, and Standard Oil of N. J.

Bonds and commodities failed to develop much of a trend. There was no outstanding change in the business picture.

Noted was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that "elements of the steel situation become ever more tense with sales and shipments increasing, deliveries falling further behind and prices on the few doubtful products strengthening."

Encouraging marketwise was the forecast of the federal reserve board that its index of industrial production this month would top the peak of 128 reached in October.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

GANGWAY MR. TURKEY!

I'm Moving Into This Picture!

When Mansfield pauses to celebrate your great holiday, Thanksgiving, its people are going to start thinking of mine, Christmas, which will then be but a short month away.

As a matter of fact, Mansfield has chosen Thanksgiving this year to mark the start of the Holiday Season with Christmas Shopping officially beginning on the following day, Friday, November 22nd.

The Thanksgiving Day Edition of The News-Journal will go out to the homes of Mansfield and North Central Ohio heavy with the Christmas news, pictures and advertising it contains.

Mansfield's appearance will take on a Christmas atmosphere on Thanksgiving Day. Already workmen are placing the wreaths, lights and other decorations and these will be in final order in time for the Shopping throngs next Friday and Saturday.

The stores have been hustling with extra clerks and big orders of new goods getting their displays and stock ready for the Shopping Season and the official opening.

And most important, Mansfielders and North Central Ohioans themselves await the Christmas Season opening, for they will be free to visit Mansfield's business section and the stores, thanks to the Thanksgiving Holiday week-end in schools and colleges, many offices and factories.

So move over, Mr. Turkey, from here on I'm in the picture, too.

The Thanksgiving Day Edition of The News-Journal Will Be Delivered Before Noon.

3 DIE, 12 HURT IN MISHAPS IN RICHLAND AREA

Woman Killed In Accident at Ontario, Husband, Daughter Both Injured.

by her husband pulled onto U. S. route 30-S from the Shelby-Ontario road in Ontario shortly after 9 a. m. yesterday and was struck by a tractor-trailer truck. Last year at this time 24 persons had been killed on Richland county highways.

Mrs. Shondell was killed instantly, her skull crushed as the light coach was crumpled and rolled over by the force of the impact.

A WPA foreman returning home from a hunting trip on his father's farm near Holgate, east of Defiance, Shondell sustained lacerations and fractured ribs. He was a member of Company M and served overseas for nine months of the World war.

His 12-year-old daughter, Hope, riding in the rear seat of the machine suffered a fractured skull.

Both were removed to the General hospital.

Physicians who described the girl's condition as "critical" this morning said there was little chance for her to recover. Shondell's condition was reported as "good."

State highway patrolmen who investigated the crash said the truck driver, Karl Sudlow, 27, of Canton, told them Shondell drove onto the highway, which is part of the route 30-N detour, without stopping.

Sudlow and a relief driver, George Nadeau, 31, of New Philadelphia, who was asleep at the time, were uninjured. The tractor was badly damaged when the driver swerved the vehicle to the side of the road, hit a culvert and tore down several signs on a bank along the road.

Mrs. Shondell's body was removed to Holgate yesterday and will be taken to Turtle Creek for burial.

Mrs. Graham was killed Saturday night when a car driven by her husband, Chester, crashed into the rear of a machine driven by Stanley McLaughlin, 16, of Nevada, nine miles west of Bucyrus on U. S. route 30-N.

Graham is in City hospital at Bucyrus with fractured ribs and lacerations and bruises. The couple was on their way home from Carey at the time of the accident, Wyandot county authorities reported.

Treated for lacerations and bruises were young McLaughlin, his mother, Mrs. Nellie McLaughlin, and his grandfather, Daniel McLaughlin. The boy's father, Walter, escaped injury.

Born Aug 11, 1912, Mrs. Graham is survived by her husband and three children, Chester, jr., Katherine and Charles; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Klahn, Bucyrus, eight sisters; Mrs. Howard Coulter and Mrs. Carl Allen, of Bucyrus, Mrs. Quill A. Klahn, Mansfield, Mrs. Donald Ritter, and Mrs. Bertha Shifely, both of Crestline, Mrs. Cloyd Cole, Lexington, Mrs. Paul Johns, Tiro.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Tuesday at the Munz Funeral home. Burial will be in Greenlawn, Crestline.

Seven persons were injured in a freak accident Sunday night, one mile west of Osceola on U. S. route 30 S, when cars driven by Ralph Sroufe, 26, Columbia City, Ind., and R. H. Bates of Fort Wayne, both without lights, collided head on.

Sroufe is in Bucyrus city hospital with a fractured knee and head injuries. His wife, Beth, is unconscious and attendants reported her condition as "critical."

The couple's two-year-old son, Bud, sustained lacerations and a fractured arm. His condition was reported as good.

The passengers in the car, Herbert Ressler, 15, and Dale Kiser, 16, both of Columbia City were treated for lacerations and bruises.

C. E. Elbertson, 48, of Fort Wayne, riding with Sroufe, is also in the hospital with a fractured jaw.

Deputy Elwood Jacob reported both drivers had turned out the lights on their cars and were driving by moonlight.

Icy highways and the rush of hunters to and from the field for the opening of rabbit-pheasant season combined to hike the state's week-end traffic fatalities to at least 26, the Associated Press reported.

A truck driver burned to death when his truck left U. S. highway 20 was identified today as Fortuna Urdea 29 Sharon Pa Sheriff H. L. Myers expressed belief the driver fell asleep before the steel laden truck crossed the highway to a deep ravine and caught fire.

The ranking of Lakewood, suburb of Cleveland, as the nation's largest city without a traffic fatality in 1940 was lost with the death of Clark Branion, 85, who walked from behind a parked automobile and was struck by another.

Rising temperatures yesterday generally cleared the highways of ice, particularly in the northern section of the state where a fairly heavy snowfall and subfreezing temperatures were reported.

Near Chillicothe, an automobile skidded on ice and hit the car of another, killing four Clevelanders. They were Charles W. Hanson, 41, his wife, Gertrude, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Vinyard.

A train-automobile collision near Tiffin killed four hunters from Cleveland.

C. H. Ruble jr., 17 of Logan was shot accidentally and killed by his father as they returned to their automobile after hunting in Hocking county.

Other week-end victims:

Niles-Ralph Joyce, 32, of Evansville, and Everett A. Henderson, 48, of Niles, killed in train-automobile collision.

Cleveland — Gustave Mendell, 81; Miss Bertha Waag, 20, and an unidentified man, all struck by automobiles; Elmer H. Wahl, 48, of a heart attack after his machine and another collided.

Swanton—Henry L. Gorman, 44, of Toledo, car struck tree.

Cincinnati — Edward O'Brien, 75, of car crash injuries; Mrs. Willie B. Rice, 51, crushed under train.

Steubenville—Floyd H. Broady, 45, from monoxide fumes.

Street Scene In Blasted Coventry

This scene shows what hundreds of tons of German high explosive bombs did to the English midlands city of Coventry in the "revenge" raid staged by the Nazi air force. An estimated 1,000 persons were killed and wounded in what is described as the worst air raid of the war. The 14th century cathedral was among the historic buildings destroyed in the city where Lady Godiva rode, according to legend.

Near Death

Hope Shondell, 12, lies near death in the General hospital, with a fractured skull suffered when the car in which she was riding with her parents collided with an inter-state freight truck, instantly killing her mother. Her father, Ralph, suffered fractured ribs.

son with other years—will be sweet potatoes. Prices at down town markets range from five to eight and a third cents a pound. You must have at least three pounds, so let's add a quarter to the list.

You can have a pound of cranberries for 20 cents; two bunches of celery for 10 cents a bunch, two big heads of iceburg lettuce at prices ranging from seven and a half to 10 cents a head. Your green vegetable shouldn't cost more than 25 cents, since you can get big heads of cauliflower at 15 cents and green or yellow beans at two pounds for a quarter.

Mince meat is twelve and a half cents a pound and it still costs about 10 cents to make a single pie. Add it all up and the cost of the butter and rolls and plain stuffing for your turkey and you'll find yourself on the sunny side of $6.

Of course, if you want the fancy trimmings you'll have to pay 10 cents apiece for artichoke and 25 for avocado.

Ohio is one of the states that will observe Thanksgiving this week. Seven states will observe it on Nov. 28 while a few will postpone it for another week.

SAYS U. S. BOAT HALTED NAZIS

to flee back to Tampico. The scuttled vessel was the freighter Phrygia.

Captains of all four Nazi freighters insisted the units which intercepted their vessels were one cruiser and four destroyers—either British or Canadian.

It was revealed the Queretaro intervened in the episode, signalling a warship to keep out of Mexican territorial waters.

President Lazaro Cardenas, who has taken a personal hand in the investigation, held a lengthy conference with Mexican Foreign Minister Edouardo Hay to determine whether Mexico's sovereign waters and the 300-mile Pan-American "neutrality belt" had been violated.

If the investigation discloses that the warships were Canadian or British, it is reported Mexico will call upon the Pan-American conference to lodge an official protest with Great Britain.

Tampico port authorities have been instructed to forward to President Cardenas copies of the testimony of the officers and crew of the German steamers as well as the statement of the captain of the gunboat Queretaro.

Mexican authorities have conducted another search of the Nazi cargo liner Orinoco, largest of the German merchantmen that tried unsuccessfully to race out into the Atlantic, and have reported that there was no foundation to the rumor that the Orinoco sailed Friday with Deisel oil to refuel the 10,000-ton German pocket-battleship Admiral Scheer.

Rear Admiral Gabriel Carvallo, port captain of Tampico, reported the Orinoco only had enough fuel to take her to her destination, Vigo, Spain.

Captain Makes Official Report

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—A Mexican gunboat captain has reported officially, said dispatches from Tampico today, that United States neutrality patrol vessels, and not "enemy" warships, caused a German merchant captain to scuttle his ship and frightened three other Nazi vessels back into Tampico harbor Friday night.

The Mexican naval officer, Lieut. Cuauhtemoc Perez Zavala, was said also to have advised the Mexican navy that one of the United States ships—all destroyers—had entered Mexican territorial waters.

The lieutenant said he drew his gunboat, the Queretaro, between the one vessel, which he identified as Destroyer 233, and the German ship Rhein. He reported that another of the vessels was Destroyer 210.

Capt. H. Fromke of the German ship Idarwald previously had declared that his vessel was "chased" by one destroyer to a point within two miles of the port of Tampico.

Capt. J. Schurt of the German freighter Phrygia ordered his ship scuttled saying that one of four warships sent up flares ordering him to surrender. The German captains said they believed the warships were British.

Newspapers here today printed articles saying that the scuttling of Phrygia was hasty.

Destroy Italian Motor Division

ATHENS—(INS)—Destroying an Italian mechanized division which had been rushed to the scene of battle, Greek troops fighting with fierce violence today were reported on the verge of occupying burning Koritza, chief Italian military base in Abania.

Accounts reaching Athens said the Greeks captured 130 Italian tanks, hundreds of Fascist prisoners and huge quantities of abandoned war materials when they defeated the Italian "rescue" force east of Koritza.

Low-diving Greek and British planes aided the Greek drive with terrific strafing assaults on the Italians, forcing survivors from the Fascist columns to flee across the border into Yugoslavia, where they were interned.

(Editors note: Some reports received in London said that 170 fleeing Italian tanks routed in the Koritza battle had halted on the Albanian side of the frontier instead of entering Yugoslavia.)

One Italian detachments was reported snared in a death trap in the Epirus sector with their backs to the Ionian sea. Another Italian column north of Koritza was ringed by Greek artillery fire.

Greek shock troops entered the outskirts of Koritza at noon yesterday, opening the final stages of fighting for complete capture of the Fascist stronghold, according to unofficial advices.

The Italians were reported putting up a bitter, rear-guard fight.

But the main body of the Italians at Koritza was said to have withdrawn to the west after setting part of the city on fire. A Greek third army was expected to march triumphantly into Koritza some time today after the "mopping up" operations are complete.

Occupation of Koritza will constitute the first major victory of the Italo-Greek conflict and, it was stated, will terminate the Italian threat against the Greek Aegean port of Salonika. In addition, it will give the Greeks a center in Italian-held Albania.

Altogether three Greek columns were reported advancing well into Albanian territory.

The situation of the Fascist force on the southwestern wing of the 120-mile front was reported especially serious after their last avenue of escape had been cut off. They were trapped between the Pindus mountains and the Ionian sea.

Twenty-eight Italian bombing and fighting planes were shot down while attempting to cover the retreat of this Italian force, it was claimed.

DUCE SAYS HE WILL NOT TURN BACK IN FIGHT

But Fascists Retreat From Albanian Front; Prepare For Home Defense.

announced a change in the Royal Air Force command, releasing air chief Marshal Sir Hugh Dowding, head of the fighter command, for "special duty, in the United States at the specific request of Lord Beaverbrook, minister of air craft production.

Air Marshal W. S. Douglas will succeed Dowding.

Resisting British army pressure through the years for control of the RAF, the air ministry decided to allot several RAF units under Air Marshal Sir Arthur Sheridan Barratt, for direct collaboration with Britain's ground forces. Barratt commanded British air forces in France until the French collapse, and his force will be known as the "army cooperation command."

In their counter offensive, the RAF reported a second successive all-night raid on Hamburg Saturday night and Sunday morning left a path of destruction in that great German port. The Germans acknowledged there was some military damage caused.

Other squadrons of RAF planes attacked plants, communication and airdromes in other parts of Germany and sprayed the French "invasion coast" with bombs while last night they attacked the industrial Ruhr.

As raids on the Nazi-held coast continued last night and early today, German and British long-range guns traded shots across the channel.

Japanese newspapers unanimously printed stories today under Bangkok, Thailand (Siam) datelines alleging that the United States and Britain were putting pressure on that little country to sign a triple defense pact under threat of an economic blockade.

Claim Merchant Ship Bombed

BERLIN—(AP)—German bombers sank a British merchant ship and a minelayer, while long-range guns on the French coast scattered a convoy which was attempting to slip through the English channel, the German high command reported today.

In the attack yesterday on the merchantman and minelayer, off the English east coast, a communique said, another cargo ship also was "hit severely."

Successful attacks on London, war-essential objectives in southern England and armament works in central England also were claimed.

British planes dropped bombs in several places in western Germany. Fires were started in an iron factory and brickworks, but were immediately quenched, it was said. Two cemeteries and residential sections also were listed as "targets of British bombs."

Ruhr District Again Attacked

LONDON —(AP)— Germany's war-vital industries in the rich Ruhr valley were reported attacked heavily today by the Royal Air Force in a quick follow-up of week-end blows at Axis ports from Hamburg, Germany, to Mogadiscio, Somaliland.

The air ministry said the main force of the British offensive last night was directed at the oil refineries of Gelsenkirchen, near the Dutch border.

Other planes bombed the industrial targets in the Ruhr, it said, rail and river communications in the western part of the Reich, the naval base at Lorient, in Nazi-occupied Brittany, and airdromes in occupied territory.

Even as the fliers struck, the RAF high command was shuffled to give the army an air arm more nearly its own, concentrate the fighter command on solving night raid interception and breaking up Nazi bombing of convoys, and possibly to co-ordinate further United States and British plane production.

Some observers took this as a hint Britain is getting ready for a plane-supported land offensive, either next spring in France or in the Near East, where a separate air commander also was named.

Europe's Future Again Charted

BERCHTESGADEN — (INS) — A new series of Axis-inspired conferences designed to chart Europe's future began today when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler received Spanish Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner.

Previously, Suner had been entertained at Fuchsl castle by Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who accompanied him to Berchtesgaden.

Hitler also was to confer with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Hitler's private talks with the two visiting foreign ministers will be followed by joint talks.

CHAPTER XL.

"It isn't his life. They'll get him off. And it would be damnably unpleasant for you. After all, we're to be married this afternoon, it'd be a little thick to have you mixing up into this mess this morning. Jocelyn, if you hadn't happened to step into that court yesterday, you'd never have known anything about it. It's all very uncertain anyway. And I think you'll have to trust me that if the poor fellow gets in pretty deep we can take it up with his attorney, Sid Napthaly—I know him. Leave it until we come back!" finished Phil, in one of his rare bursts of nervous irritation, "and then we can do something about it. Let's get married and settle down, and work out Norma's problem, and let people think for a few months that we're like other families! After all, Jocelyn," he added, with his own particularly kindly smile, "it's our wedding day! Let's concentrate on that. I don't want my wife involved in a criminal trial on my wedding day;"

"God knows I don't want to be involved in it," she said despairingly. "Could I write to Mr. Napthaly, Phil?"

Philip turned upon her a look of enforced patience.

"Won't you trust me in this, Jocelyn? Haven't I enough on my mind now? You're not sure that was your man, and even if you were it'd be your unsupported testimony, and you'd have to tear your reputation to shreds to give it. District Attorney Phillips wouldn't leave you a leg to stand on. 'You were alone with Mr. Dunham in the cabin all night? You say you left him about eleven o'clock in a hard rainfall, and spent the night in your car?'

Jocelyn shriveled under the quiet voice. She found Norma holding her cold fingers tightly.

"Dad, she didn't!" Norma said indignantly.

"I know all about it, I know all about it," said her father impatiently. "Don't meddle with what doesn't concern you. I wish we hadn't gone into Troward's court," he went on, "it's probably all your imagination, Jocelyn. And who can prove, anyway, that you were over in that part of the world that night?"

"You can," she said, her face very red, but her eyes steady. "You picked me up on the station platform when Scudder left me there."

"I don't suppose," Philip said coldly, his own face red, "that you are proposing to drag me into this?"

Jocelyn laid her hand on his arm. They had all three been riding in the roomy front seat of his car; they were at the docks now, and Norma, according to pre-arranged plan crawled into the back seat and effaced herself. Philip and Jocelyn got out and began to walk slowly to and fro on the rough plank flooring of the dock. The great Matsonia was nosing for her place. A confusion of shouts and whistles started in the quiet foggy air.

Philip said urgently, "Jocelyn, don't worry about this. I promise you I'll follow it up later. But don't get us mixed into this now. Think what it means to you, dear. It'd give Mother and Janet such a hold over you! It wasn't—I know how innocent it was. But it doesn't sound innocent. They'd have it all out of you. That you'd cared for each other, that you'd followed him there, that you'd gotten scared—as many a girl does—and run away in the night. That your car broke down—don't you see how fishy it all sounds?"

"But it's all true, Phil."

"I know it's all true. I know it was the purest coincidence that I happened along and picked you up, and you came to live with us, and Dunham came down there and shot himself. But it's the strangest string of coincidences that ever got together, and all it would do is mark you, and not help Scudder. I'd deny it. I'll not get into it!"

* * *

They were making fast the Matsonia now, and he was watching them nervously. A gangplank came down. Men and women who had come down to welcome the ship milled in a joyous confusion about the light fence that shut off the passenger lane.

"You'd deny it!"

"I certainly would."

"Philip, if it means his life!"

"It wouldn't mean his life! Don't get so excited about it, Jocelyn. They'll dig out something else that frees him, you'll see."

"Phil, I don't want to, but I have to!"

"It'd just about finish Norma."

"Norma?"

"Certainly. My mother has complete trust in you, Janet trusts you, even Sandy has to admit that you've the sort of character that most influences a girl. This pulls that all apart. Forget it, Jocelyn. Maybe we can do something later, get hold of the district attorney and explain it to him. But now we've got to pull together on what we planned! Your wedding day, and you in court telling a story like that—I think it's safe now," he added in an undertone, watching the thickening stream of passengers leaving the ship. "Any minute now we can go up and mix in."

"Philip, I'm so sorry to do anything that makes you angry."

His astonished eyes, flashing to her face, were indeed angry. "I ask you not to," he sharply.

"I know. But I'd never forgive myself—"

"Jocelyn, don't count on me to back you in this!"

Her heart was beating hard. "You'd have to back me if I had them—whatever they do—call on you as a witness!"

"Listen," said Philip fiercely, "I ask you to let this rest for the time being. I ask you to! You don't know what you're letting yourself into. We'd all be in it. It might mean postponing our wedding—"

"If it did?" she whispered, breathing hard; her eyes were steady on his own. "If it meant the end of everything. Phil. If it meant that I'm not going to let you go on and marry me, while you feel this way—"

"It will mean that," he said hotly, as she paused, unable to go on. "I've had enough! If you've no trust in me, no respect for my feelings or my mother's—"

They looked at each other for a long minute. Then Philip turned and went toward the parked car. Norma got out quietly on the sheltered side and joined him, and in another moment they were a part of the confused and noisy crowd; laughing, being greeted, threading their way about among the arrivals, the friends who had come to them.

Jocelyn, dizzy and shocked, turned the other way, found a taxi, was at the City Hall again. She went without hesitation to the courtroom and at the door was writing a note to Scudder's lawyer when recess was called. She saw Napthaly speaking to two scribling newspaper men.

"Mr. Napthaly, could I see you on a question of importance?"

"Well not today. If you'd telephone my office—"

"This has to do with this case today."

"Representing a newspaper?"

"Oh no. Will you give me three minutes?" she said.

"Will you tell me your name?"

"Britton. Jocelyn Britton."

"Aren't you going to marry Phil Fordyce?"

She hesitated, then nodded, and said, gulping with a dry throat, "I thing I have an alibi for Scudder. Could I see Scudder?"

He looked at her for a long minute; his expression changed. "Sure, you could see Scudder," he said. "Come this way."

They went through a barred door. Scudder, looking wearier and more dejected than ever, was seated at a long table. There were several policemen in the large room, and when Jocelyn sat down near the prisoner they gave her only a curious glance, and the man sitting with the prisoner, at a nod from Napthaly, moved away.

"Mr. Scudder," Jocelyn said earnestly, "do you remember that it had been raining hard the Saturday night your wife was murdered?"

"Sure, I remember," he said, after a dull stare.

"Do you remember you'd been over to see a man named Boston?"

* * *

The vague eyes came up with a sudden interest. "Zat so?" the man asked.

"You remember that?" Napthaly asked her sharply.

"I do remember it. Because my car had broken down, and I was walking, thinking I could telephone from the nearest gas station. And this man—Scudder—gave me a lift."

"This was—what time?"

"This was half past five o'clock in the morning." Color came into her white face. He was believing her!

"You were driving home; someone with you?"

"No; I was alone."

"But the folks you'd been with would remember your leaving 'em," the attorney stated rather than asked.

TO THE MAN WITH A JOB WHO NEEDS A LOAN

How you can borrow $20 to $500—without endorsers or guarantors—and repay in convenient monthly installments—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, private service

WOULD you like to get a cash loan without having to ask friends or relatives for a favor? At Household Finance you can borrow $20 to $500—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make small monthly payments on your loan. We require no stocks or bonds. At Household Finance you borrow on your own signature; your friends are not asked to sign the papers with you.

Choose your own payment plan

See, in the table below, how you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments which fit your own income. You may repay in small installments spread over 30 months. Or you may repay sooner to reduce the charges.

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.46 each will repay a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $4.46 a month for 30 months will also repay a $100 loan.

Same rate to everyone

Installments in the table cover everything. They include charges at Household's rate of 2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300 and 1½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate—the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

No one else need know

When you borrow at Household, there is no need to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) So that your loan may remain your private affair, we do not ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should be faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan, Household will show you every consideration. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

If a loan will help you, you are urged to look at the table again. Then phone or visit us for further information. You will be under no obligation to borrow.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1940.

National unity would be easy to attain if it were not for the obstinacy of other people.

It now appears that the chief value of pre-election polls is to provide jobs for those who conduct them.

A new record for "seeing America first" was set this year when 16,741,865 persons visited national parks and monuments—and probably all of them glad to get back home.

Introducing Your Parking Meters

NOW that parking meters are being placed in operation on several of Mansfield's downtown streets it will be necessary for motorists to learn the simple method of operating these devices—and also to be a little more careful in watching the length of time their car is parked.

Combining the penny and nickel parking charge is one of the advantages of having deferred installation until this feature was available. The twelve minutes for a penny will meet the need for brief errands while the hour for a nickel will allow time ordinarily required for parking at any particular place in the business district.

Experience in other cities which have installed parking meters has been that early objectors quickly became convinced that the meters were "a good thing," in relieving traffic congestion, doing away with overtime parking in restricted zones, and making it possible for local and transient motorists to find short-time parking space at small cost.

Also to be noted by motorists is the fact that use of meters extends only from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m., Mondays through Fridays, and until 9 p. m. Saturdays—no payment is to be made for parking on Sundays or holidays.

What Future for France?

SOME reassurance is found in the statement of General Weygand that France is "defeated but not dead." Americans, as historic friends of France, certainly hope that stricken nation still has life in it. Many have been wondering whether it could revive, renew its energy and faith and regain its independence.

It will not do so, however, through "the men of Vichy." It will not be freed by a pliant opportunist like Laval. And Weygand is old and lacks energy. The present fate of France seems to be enslavement under Hitler, a reluctant ally chained to the Nazi system. De Gaulle and the patriots linked with him are carrying on the torch, but the real France cannot emerge till Hitler is gone.

Even then there might be two Frances—one the France that inspired our own national youth with a great love for liberty, and the other a France that is old, tired and disillusioned, willing to sacrifice anything for peace.

Machine Tool Progress

ACCORDING to Tell Berna, general manager of the National Machine Tool Builders' association, this vital industry more than doubled its output in the last 12 months, actually producing two and one-half times as many machine tools as in the boom year of 1929. A "machine tool," perhaps it should be explained, is a sort of master-tool, a machine which itself uses tools—a turning lathe, for instance.

There is a greater demand than ever just now for such machines, to carry out the great preparedness program. It will take time to provide all that are needed, but Mr. Berna is not worried about that. "The manufacturers of the United States," he says, "are going to get the machine tools they need, and can't get them all at once, but I am confident that the machine tools will be on hand as rapidly as they can actually be put to work."

Sees Danger In Lazy-Mindedness

ADDRESSING the State Federation of Women's Clubs of New York recently, Mrs. John E. Whitehurst of Baltimore warned them that the potential power of the women of America was going to waste because club women were becoming "soft and lazy." It was revealed, she said, by their apathy toward controversial issues.

Women are knitting, sewing and doing other Red Cross and war relief work. That is fine and necessary. But it should not permit minds to rest from thinking at a time when sober thought is vital.

The problems of defense and the yet larger problems of the peace which must follow the war cannot be solved in the right way if they are ignored now.

Most people know today that mistakes were made after the World war armistice, that escape was sought from the responsibilities of peace and the dreadful implications of the world's unfinished business. Why make those mistakes again? Why cultivate idle minds? Why seek entertainment and avoid controversy? Why waste latent power and weaken influence by dodging unpleasant facts and mental hard work?

Pre-Dunking for Doughnuts

TO A PRACTICAL MIND the social ban on dunking doughnuts has never seemed rational, and millions have resented it. This being the case, a device invented by a New York chef may be big news. It is a mechanical doughnut-dunker, or as some devotees might prefer to say, a pre-dunker.

A chef named Rupert Huba thought up this wonderful device. He was driven to it by pity for the dainty eaters, Hollywood stars and others, who would order doughnuts, pick them up, and then hesitate, their hands hovering over the coffee cup. They yearned to dunk but couldn't do it—not with their public looking on.

Then came the great inspiration. The chef would dunk their doughnuts for them! He communicated his great idea and enthusiasm to a mechanic, and so there was produced a mechanical grill that gently lowers the doughnuts into a saucepan of hot coffee and then deposits them on the plate, with no hands touching them. There they await the fork. And that, as Monsieur Huba says, is "class."

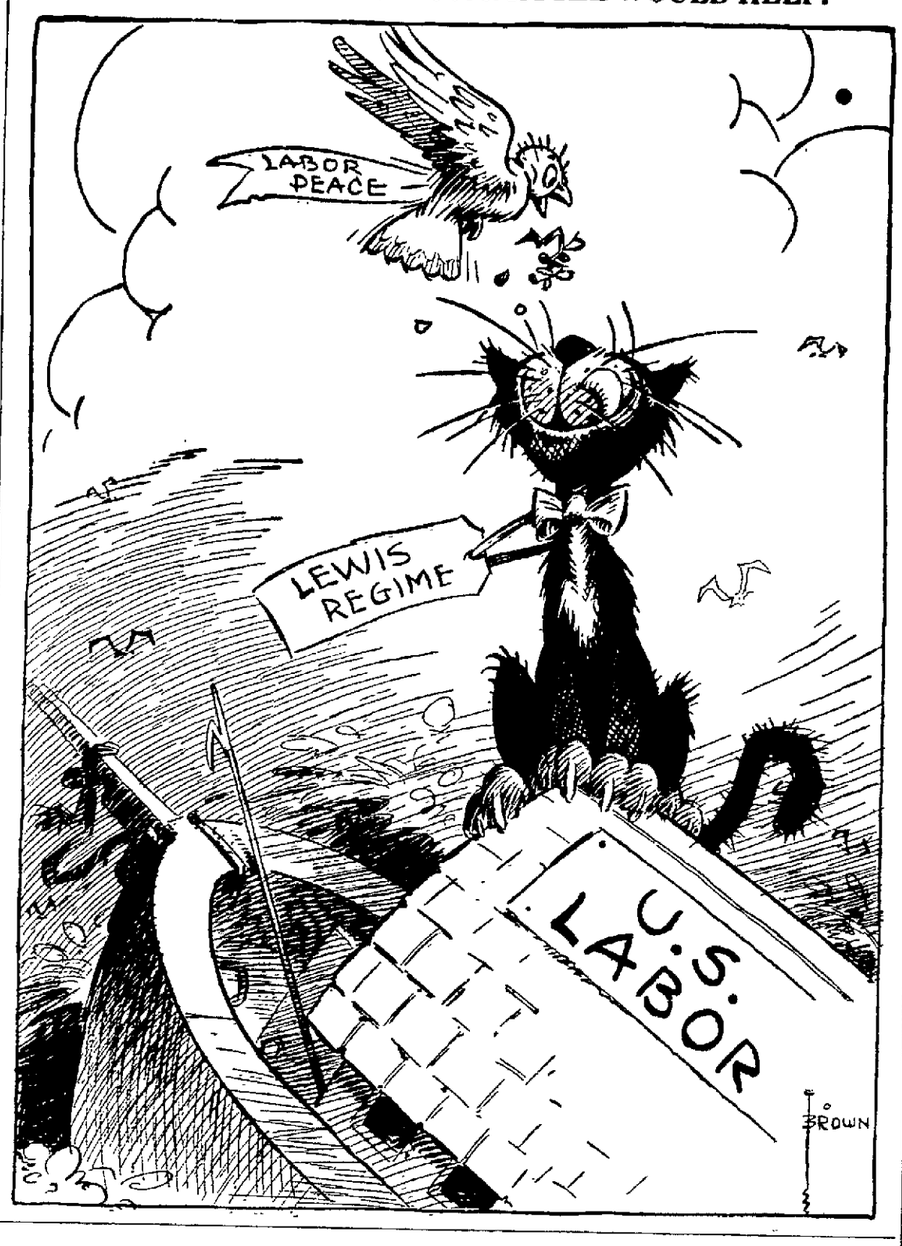
A visitor from Hawaii expresses her views of an American city: "Too many people in too many cars in too much of a hurry, going in too many different directions to nowhere for nothing."

From Russia comes word that two more critics of the government have been shot—but over here they are subjected only to Ickes retorts.

Secretary Ickes has tendered his resignation—but it is unlikely Madam Perkins will take any such chances.

According to a psychologist, women are as intelligent as men—and, on the other hand . . .

A NEW RECEPTION COMMITTEE WOULD HELP.



Unity on Preparedness—That's All

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WHILE there'll be plenty of unity behind President Roosevelt on the national defense issue, indications already are multiplying in Washington, as politicians get back to the capital from the recent hustings, that there won't be a super-abundance of it relative to other administration policies.

Men prominently identified with the losing side in the late campaign, speaking for publication, give the impression that they're all for non-partisan solidarity, lest they be accused of hostility to our preparedness program, or of soreheadedness at least. In confidential chats, however, many of them take quite a different tone.

Even confidentially they declare emphatically for any amount of nationally defensive activity, of course. But they'd rather not have Wendell Willkie officially identified with it, because they think such a connection would tend to silence him concerning other New Deal doings in general. They don't want him back in the public utility business, either, reckoning that that would tend to hush him up.

The argument is that he can make all the money he needs practicing law independently, leaving him free to say whatever he likes on the subject of the New Dealers' management henceforward. Then, whenever he considers this management entirely wrong, his counsellors figure that he'll be in a position to give it a terrific blast, and they believe that it must be more effective than any alternative critic's could be.

Want Willkie Outside.

The election returns were hardly in before it was suggested that Wendell would be an ideal individual for President Roosevelt to absorb into his governmental organization. Republican strategists do not want him so absorbed. They want him altogether on the outside, raising Cain at every favorable opportunity.

This doesn't sound like genuine wishfulness for 100 per cent unity.

F. D. R., returned to Washington from Hyde Park after election day, seems exceptionally undictatorial. At his past press conferences he's averaged, in his contacts with the newspaper boys, not a bit overbearing but a bit superior—smilingly so, but inclined to treat 'em as mere kids. Now all that edge is off. The impression he gives is that he's heard this dictator talk (as naturally he has) and is going out of his way to demonstrate that he's no such thing.

He was the National Press club's dinner guest the other night, though there's no doubt that a great majority of the Washington correspondents were against him during the campaign. He got a grand reception, too—but a lot of it was mere hospitality. However, he made the date before election day. Possibly, though, he had it in mind to placate the crowd in advance, for there's no doubt that the club likes to get notabilities like himself on its list of visitors. It cost a good bunch of simolians to eat with him.

Less Dictatorial?

At that, I imagine he'll be less dictatorial in manner during his third term than he always was before, for the simple reason that he knows he's accused of it.

But unity on Capitol Hill?

It'll be there if we get into the war, and it will be there in the meantime, on the subject of preparedness.

Otherwise, if I'm any judge of the chatter I hear from Republican and Democratic anti-New Deal politicians and from newspapermen from all over the country, it won't be noticeable.

It's preached, but it remains to be seen if it will be practiced.

And there are good authorities who say it shouldn't be practiced, moreover. Their contention is that democracy needs a strong minority opposition to any government.

Health and Diet

Middle-Age Upsets Can Be Halted.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A WOMAN was brought to me not long ago by members of her family to get my advice. She was 59 years of age, but she looked a little older. "Mother," as they called her, had always been of a nervous temperament, but for the past two years this had been much worse and she said she felt all disturbed. Her sleep is heavy, but she wakes up frightened, with both arms asleep. She is frequently troubled by a rush of blood to the head (though she passed the menopause years ago) and this is accompanied by a sense of impending death. She is very forgetful and sometimes fits of trembling come over her. Formerly very neat, she is now inclined to be untidy. She has turned against some members of her family. She answered my questions listlessly or else passed them by with haughty disdain.

Family Worried.

The family was very upset, and rightly so, but it is not difficult to comfort them. It is pretty axiomatic that if a person of over 55, previously responsible and of good mental calibre and heredity, suddenly has a mental upset, a physical cause is at the bottom of it.

One of the commonest and most frequently overlooked of these causes is myxoedema, a shrinking of the thyroid gland which makes it lose its secretion. Elderly, or a little less than elderly, people in a household develop this disease, and go neglected for years. The family doesn't think it is worth while taking them to a doctor. They say, "Oh, Mother is aging so fast," or "Mother likes to sleep all the time." And the poor things are shunted out of the family circle when a little thyroid extract by mouth would in most cases fix them up so they were quite themselves again.

Poor Circulation.

The blood vessels, as time goes on, get bad not only in the arms or at the temples, but in the brain. And this means bad circulation, which means bad thinking. Not that all old people are necessarily that way. All credit to the oldsters whose minds are vigorous and hearty up to four score and ten. Though I own to a deep conviction that no man has a resilient brain after 70.

In the case of the lady of 59, whom I described in the first paragraph, I found her blood pressure elevated and her retinal arteries very tortuous and thick. And the mere explanation that she had something real the matter with her nearly made a cure. The poor thing was secretly convinced that she was going insane or blind, and she cheered up immensely when she found there was an explanation for her condition, and the outlook was not so bad.

'Draft Lewis' Move Shakes CIO, Bigger Unions Seek to Oust Reds

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—At Atlantic City today John L. Lewis will go through with his promise to resign as head of the CIO—but that will not end the bloody inner circle battling. It will merely begin a struggle that may split the CIO wide open.

Crux of this civil war is who shall control the CIO: Lewis, plus his Communist-fellow traveler allies; or the big, pro-New Deal unions. The fight involves two separate prizes: (1) the presidency; (2) the executive council.

Under the existing CIO set-up, each of the 43 affiliates has representation on the council. This means first, that the twenty little unions, with less than 25,000 members, mostly of reddish tinge, have a disproportionate voice in the council; second, that the council is too costly and cumbersome for frequent meetings, thus giving the president what amounts to a free hand.

John L. Lewis and his left-wing cohorts want to retain this set-up. The anti-Lewisites are determined either to liberalize it or quit the CIO.

Red Plans.

THE STRATEGY of the leftists at Atlantic City will be a "draft Lewis" movement, led by Joe Curran, noisy Maritime head; Harry Bridges, Pacific Coast longshoremen's boss; and Ben Gold, Communist president of the Fur and Leather Workers.

In case the move to reinstate Lewis by acclamation fails, the strategy will be to elect a "compromise" or stooge as successor to Lewis, thus preventing any change in the executive council's organization.

Lewis denies that he has any hand in these undercover plans. He is keeping strictly aloof, says John L., and will resign in good faith. But his foes assert that he is working just as furiously behind the scenes to retain CIO control as he did in applying the screws to line up for Willkie.

Some of the Red leaders darkly hint that if the anti-Lewis group gains control, they will bolt. If they do, it will save the antis the trouble of throwing them out, which they plan to do when they get in the saddle.

Anti-Red Plans.

THE PROGRAM of the antis is (1) to oust Lewis and replace him with an anti-Red successor; (2) to make the executive council an effective body by reducing it to six or eight elected members.

Leaders of the anti-group are R. J. Thomas, head of the Auto Workers; S. H. Dalrymple, president of the Rubber Workers; Emil Rieve, boss of the Textile Workers; and Sidney Hillman, National Defense Commissioner and president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

They are determined to smash Red influence within the CIO once and for all, and to houseclean the network of hand-picked functionaries built up by John L. Lewis. The fight will be waged on the basis that unless it is won, these powerful leaders are washed up with the CIO.

At least three of the big anti-Lewis unions have a quiet understanding that they will set up a new federation of their own if their plans fail at Atlantic City.

* * *

Miners' Revolt?

MEANWHILE, Lewis is having a very stormy time within his own United Mine Workers.

Under its by-laws he is sure of re-election, since nominations for president closed several months ago, and he is the only candidate. Phil Murray, UMW vice president, was backed by several locals, but refused to enter the race against his old chief.

This means that Lewis' $25,000-a-year-plus expenses are safe. But that isn't keeping the rank and file from talking revolt. In scores of UMW locals in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and other miner states there is fierce resentment against Lewis' antics in the recent campaign.

District leaders report pictures of Lewis being draped with crepe and placarded with signs reading, "Our lost leader." "He was a good man — once." "Goodbye, John."

Privately UMW chiefs are worried that the smouldering revolt may adversely affect the crucial negotiations for a new wage contract with the coal operators next April. Also, they are worried about their own scalps.

Van A. Bittner, square-jawed head of the West Virginia UMW, expressed this bluntly to Lewis when John L. tried to bludgeon him into deserting Roosevelt.

"All my captains are deserting me," Lewis barked bitterly.

"I wouldn't put it that way, John," shot back Bittner. "We've fought side by side for many years and now suddenly you are out of step with the rest of us. I'm for Roosevelt and I'm going to stay for him. And I'll tell you something else. If I tried to tell the miners in West Virginia to vote against the president, that would mean the end of our organization in the state. They'd rip our leadership to pieces."

Crack In the South.

THE Solid South was cracked in the recent election, but not by a Republican. It was the work of a Nashville, Tenn., Democrat, in the only hard-fought congressional battle in the entire South.

Hero of the saga was J. Percy Priest, crack newsman of The Nashville Tennessean, who, running as an Independent, unseated two-term Representative Joseph W. Byrns, jr., son of the late speaker of the house.

Priest defeated Byrns although the district hadn't elected anyone but a regular Democrat since the Civil war, and although he committed the faux pas of failing to register so he could vote.

Priest, however, had other strong advantages on his side. For many years he has been his paper's "good will" reporter, attending barbecues, fairs, graduations and civic gatherings. Practically everybody in the district knows "Perce" Priest personally. Also, Byrns, first elected as a New Dealer, had chalked up a near perfect anti-Roosevelt record.

Priest also made much of the fact that Byrns' speech against the draft bill had won thunderous applause from the Republicans. Nashville generally is strong for national defense and FDR. So while Byrns won renomination, he found a real fight on his hands when Priest threw his hat into the ring as an Independent.

Byrns sent out a frantic SOS to house colleagues and Representative Sam Hobbs dashed up from Alabama to stump for him. But it was no go. Byrns was defeated in the only Democratic upset in the entire South.

Note—Priest's constituency is known as the "Hermitage district," because it was the home of President Andrew Jackson, patron saint of the Democratic party. The new congressman is 40 and unmarried.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It's about time for the great biennial passing of the buck from one Congress to another.

With ending of the 76th Congress, five highly controversial measures (four of them already passed by the House of Representatives) go down to what may be dusty death on the tables of Senate committees or on the calendar.

As this is being written, the exact date of the demise of Congress is not definite and it is barely possible that the Republican contingent, headed by Senator Vandenberg (Mich.) in the upper house and Minority Leader Joe Martin, in the lower, will have its way and keep Congress on until the legislative year ends January 3. In that event, one or two of the measures which have been stamped by the House as a good thing for the nation might get to the floor of the Senate, but the best guessers don't gess so.

Slated For Ash-Can.

HERE are the bills which it seems are slated for the 76th Congress ash-can:

(1). The Logan-Walter bill, a complicated measure which would put a check rein on government administrative agencies and make it possible for persons and companies to appeal to the courts when they feel the agencies have issued orders violating their individual rights. The House passed it by a big majority, but the Senate has kept it muffled in committee swaddling clothes.

(2). The anti-lynching bill. Passed by the House by an almost 2-to-1 vote last January, this one went to the Senate amid dark hints of a filibuster from southern Senate leaders, if any effort should be made to bring it to the floor. The bill was approved by the Senate judiciary in April (10-to-3) and until about June, it seemed it might some day come to a vote. Then came national defense and the anti-lynching bill has been hanging on the calendar ever since, with some senator only now and then giving it as much as a sidelong glance.

(3). The Wagner act amendments, which would provide a new three-man national labor relations board and a heavy overhauling of the original Wagner labor act. This passed the House in June by exactly 2-to-1 but the Senate hasn't given it a decent nod.

(4). The Ramspeck bill, which would bring about 200,000 more government employes under civil service. The senate did act on this one, but it killed one important House provision and added one of its own and a stormy House ordered its members in joint conference not to send the bill back to the House with those changes. Rep. Robert Ramspeck (D.-Ga.) has hopes of salvaging his bill this session, but many observers think it also will go by the board.

(5). Also pending in the Senate is the important King resolution which would relax our neutrality laws and make some changes in the Johnson act, which forbids loans to countries which haven't paid their World war debts. This is the measure which would open the door to greater material aid to Britain.

* * *

These Aren't All.

THESE aren't all the pending measures which are likely to be passed on to the 77th Congress, but they are the important ones.

If they die on the Senate calendar or in committee, they will have to be re-introduced at the next session and acted on again by BOTH houses before they can become laws. With the gains of the majority party in the House at the recent election, it is considered certain the first four measures will sail through again in due time and again it will be up to the Senate to act or put off until tomorrow whatever it considers too hot to handle today.

A Farmer's Diary

Wild Geese Honking

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

TOWARD evening a cool drizzle fell and purple skeins of scudding fog hung above the rugged eastern rim of our valley. The wind had been warm all day and from the swamp I heard the faint croak of a lonely frog, but November was in the air—in the eerie grayness of the sky; in the writhing naked branches of dripping trees; in the sodden leaves heaped into the roadside ditch.

A little sad, November always is. The air was tense, as though some grave event were imminent. Just then, far off to the north, I caught the hint of something — something I listen to with mingled wonderings every year—too subtle for human mind to comprehend, more stirring than martial music.

Along the summit beneath the highest roof of clouds, dark specks, like painted forms against the fleecy folds. They seemed to float rather than win their way, beneath the colored dome. Wild geese—outstretched necks pointed southward—sable etchings against a leaden sky!

I counted fifty moving majestically as one. Scrawling the letter "W" across the clouds. Honking so that the wooded hills gave back their throaty medley; voicing the poignance of the changing season, the challenge and inspiration of wild pilgrims homeward bound.

Our neighbor's flock of geese took up the cry and passed on tiptoe in answer to the call of the wild. They beat their white wings futilely and did not quiet down until their kin were out of sight. Our hens raised their heads high and prattled nervously, then sped to cover, from wheat field, pasture and roadside, never stopping until they reached the barn.

I watched the sweeping line pass beyond the southern horizon. I heard their constantly waning screams die to a fading murmur. I believe I know how Bryant felt when he wrote

"Thou'rt gone — the abyss of heaven
Hath swallowed up thy form; yet on my heart
Deeply hath sunk the lesson thou hast given,
And shall not soon depart."

Dies Calls Ex-Foreign Official In Espionage Hearing

HOPES TO GET EVIDENCE ON BIG SPY RING

Says FBI Investigation of Conditions Would Be First For Hoover.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—Congressman Martin Dies opened a hearing in Chicago today with high hopes of uncovering "a mighty big espionage system in America" through the testimony of a former official representative of a foreign power.

Dies, chairman of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities, declined to identify the witness, but said he was to testify under a subpoena.

He said that the witness' testimony may be "the most important we've turned up yet."

Dies also described his 500-page "white paper," which he has threatened to make public, is a report to the six members of his committee. He said the paper includes his personal recommendation that it be made public.

The "white paper" refutedly contains charges that German and Italian consular representatives, businessmen and cultural leaders are actively engaged in espionage activity.

Told of reports that J. Edgar Hoover and his federal bureau of investigation are becoming active in the war on spies and saboteurs, Dies said:

"That's splendid. If Mr. Hoover is taking cognizance of some of the evidence we have given him it will be, to my knowledge, his first activity of this kind."

Record Crowd To Dance Tonight At Policemen's Ball

The largest crowd in history will attend the 7th annual Police ball tonight at the Coliseum if ticket sales are any indication.

Members of the Police Recreation club, sponsors of the yearly affair said this morning that upwards to 6,000 tickets had been sold for the dance.

Music will be furnished by Joe Sanders and his world famous Nighthawks from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

The grand march will be conducted at 9 p. m. with Police Chief Meade K. Bates, Mrs. Bates, and members of the force and their wives heading the march.

Motion pictures of the event are to be taken and will be shown later at Mansfield theaters, police said.

Chief Bates announced today that, to make entrance to North Park more accessible to patrons, Middle park drive would be opened from Park avenue west and that autoists could cross West Fourth street into the park.

Council Meets To Provide Pay Fund For Water Works

City council will meet in special session tomorrow night on the call of Mayor William J. Locke to set up funds for meeting water works department payrolls.

Tentatively approved by council's finance committee, council is expected to approve a $4,000 appropriation to cover the departmental payroll for the balance of the year.

Eighteen employes in the department experienced a "payless payday" last week because funds for meeting the payroll, which has exceeded last year's payroll by several thousand dollars, was exhausted.

In addition the legislators will also be asked to approve $475 appropriation for purchase of a master meter for the Maxwell pumping station, $95 for the purchase of additional bicycle licenses, and several minor financial measures.

Informally Speaking...

Nov. 18, 1940.

Lucy, dear:

AFTER a week of overcast skies, high winds and sprinkling snow, today is indeed a joy, with a cloudless blue sky, a bright sun and really no wind at all. Why, winter wouldn't be half bad if it were always like this, would it? This was a happy week-end for Martha Spetka, as she was initiated into Chi Omega sorority at Ohio State university . . . The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spetka, she is a sophomore at the university.

In fact, just about all the news I have for you today is about college students, Lucy, and since they're all doing such interesting things, I'm sure you'll be glad to hear about them. . . . Mary Gage (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe M. Gage) has been admitted to Wyvern, honorary society for junior women at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. . . . And while we're speaking of that school, two Mansfield boys, Albert M. Osborn and Henry I. Mahon, have been admitted to the newly established unit of the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps there. . . . Bill is a freshman in the university's literary college this year, while Henry has that rank in the College of Engineering.

Elaine Schiller writes that each day of this, her senior year at Seton Hill college, is busier than the last—she has so many things to do in addition to her studies. . . . Recently she was a guest of the French group of the school at a tea given in Pittsburgh to entertain the American consul. . . . Here she was honored by pouring at the tea table. . . . Then last Thursday night she sang two solos in a broadcast from Pittsburgh on a program given by the president of Seton Hall. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Schiller.

THIS past week-end was an exciting one for Gladys Kerr and Helen Friday, as they were in Athens as guests of James Hart at Ohio university. . . . On Friday night they attended a Military ball, and on Saturday night went to a Pan-hellenic dance . . . Jim, as you know, is a freshman at the university this year, but already he has a long list of activities to participate in. . . . He's a pledge of Theta Chi fraternity, a member of the military band, the Men's Glee club and the R O T C. . . . His parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hart.

I'm sure you'll be sorry to learn that Howard C. Hoffman is seriously ill at the present time. . . . If you'd like to send him a card of well-wishing and cheer, you can address it to the Veterans hospital in Dayton, as that's where he's being treated.

And that seems to wind up the news for today, Lucy. Have a happy Thanksgiving—and don't eat too much turkey and trimmings.

Crestline Girl Becomes Bride Of Mansfielder Yesterday

SIMPLICITY marked the marriage yesterday at 12:30 p. m. at the altar of the First Methodist church in Crestline of Miss Frances Shennefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shennefield, to J. Howard King, son of Mrs. Mina King, of this city. Rev. O. F. Hull officiated for the single ring ceremony which was witnessed by members of the immediate families.

For her marriage Miss Shennefield chose a wisteria silk crepe cut with a tucked bodice and high neckline. She wore a gold and amethyst necklace and a shoulder corsage centered with a gardenia and a tiny black hat to complete the costume.

Miss Evelyn Shennefield served as her sister's maid of honor. She was attired in a green two piece dress with black accessories, and wore a corsage of pink roses. Richard Helfrich served as best man.

The bride's parents entertained with a reception and wedding dinner following the ceremony. A tiered wedding cake and pink roses decorated the table at which covers were laid for 12.

The couple left later in the day for a wedding trip to Florida. For traveling Mrs. King wore a soldier blue dress topped with a camel hair coat, and navy accessories. Upon their return to Ohio they will make their home with Mr. King's mother.

Mrs. King, a graduate of the Crestline high school and the Mansfield Commercial Institute, is employed as a bookkeeper at the First National bank of Crestline. The bridegroom was graduated from the high school here and is employed by the Erie railroad.

Those attending the wedding included Mr. King's mother and sister, Miss Doris King, Mr. and Mrs. Paul King, Galion; Mr. and Mrs. Donald King and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Angela Decker, Crestline, and the bride's parents, and sister, Janet.

Approaching Holiday Season Marked By Nuptial Events

WITH the arrival of the holiday season, Mansfielders once again find their interest centering on home entertaining, dances, special events and weddings. This year, as we have pointed out on previous occasions, has been more than unusual in that the nuptial events have by far exceeded any previous recent year.

As Thanksgiving comes (locally at any rate) this week, socialites will have an opportunity to witness several marriages very soon now. A Thanksgiving eve event will be that of Miss Mary Lotz, Columbus, and Paul Kipp, at the First Christian church. Early Thursday morning Miss Elizabeth Gabor and John Weber will exchange their vows at St. Peter's Catholic church, while Miss Donna Weaver and Everett Them have also chosen the 21st, but their plans have not been made public.

Of interest here as well as in other cities will be the marriage, Nov. 22 of Miss Marie Elizabeth Charles of Minneapolis, Minn., to John Dinsmore of this city. The nuptials will be solemnized in the Minnesota city at 4 o'clock at the Trinity Baptist church.

Nov. 28 (Thanksgiving in some of the eastern states) has been announced as the choice of Miss Wilma M. Dillon and Harold J. Foss, who will exchange their vows before the altar of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church with Rev. Paul H. Saleste officiating at 8:30 p. m. The following day has been chosen by Miss Virginia Mae Sanderson for her marriage to Thomas Gerhart.

The couple will take their nuptial vows before the altar of the First Methodist church at 4:30 p. m. with Rev. E. G. Corwin officiating.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Sheer amazement tied my tongue as Marion put her question concerning Katherine's husband to me over the telephone. She had seen Jack Bickett but two or three times in her life, and those years ago. What possible reason could she have for asking if Katherine had heard from him?

From somewhere I heard a faint intake of breath, so almost inaudible a thing that I was positive Marion would not notice it. But to me it spelled some one listening on the line, someone with a vital interest in either the questioner or the query she was making.

That someone could only be Katherine, and I surmised the truth at once. Dicky must have asked her to "listen in" on my colloquy with Marion, on the theory that if she knew step by step what was going on, she might be better able to help me if I should suddenly need her aid.

Her story and her life have been so interlinked with my own that I feel as if her sorrow were mine also, and nobody would rejoice more than I at the clearing away of the clouds which have shadowed her lonely pathway for so long.

It was during the first year of my marriage that Katherine Bickett, then Katherine Sonnot, came into my life. A nurse, not long out of hospital training, who, nevertheless had built up a creditable reputation for herself, she was sent to us by my mother's physician, and brought her back to life and health after a most dangerous attack of pneumonia.

"She was the sweetest thing," I told myself with a nostalgic remembrance of the winsome girl with the big brown eyes who had discovered my photograph of Jack Bickett, my "brother-cousin," my only living "kinfolk" on my mother's side of the house, and showed me the mate to it in an envelope of her most prized mementoes, betraying her romantic interest in Jack whom she never had seen, but with whom she felt well acquainted because of her brother's comradeship with him in a French war camp.

"I do not believe she has heard from him lately, Marion," I told her truthfully, "but if you'll hold the line, I'll go over to the nursery and ask her."

Would the ruse be successful? I held my breath while she hesitated for an instant, and then said hurriedly:

"Oh! if you only would, Auntie Madge. But I can stay only a minute longer."

"I'll hurry." I promised her mendaciously, feeling sure that she would stay close to the receiver until I came back with the information she wished.

I left the receiver dangling and rushed toward the nursery, meeting Katherine in the hall as I had expected.

"I heard you and dashed out," she said. "Dicky told me to listen in on you, and give first aid if necessary."

Her words were flippant, but her eyes were tortured.

"You don't need to answer her question, you know," I told her. "Indeed, I am wondering if it would be wise to answer it, even—"

I stopped flushing, but she finished the sentence calmly.

"Even if I could," she said, "I agree with you. But you can tell her truthfully I haven't heard from him lately. May I listen in again?"

"Of course," I told her, and rushed back to the telephone. But I barely had finished telling Marion Katherine's answer when I heard an unpleasant masculine voice calling from the door in raucous accents plainly audible over the telephone.

"Beat it this second, do you hear. There's a car just drove out of the gate at that other place, and it's coming this way like a bat out of hell. Get a move on! I tell you."

The voice was nearer the receiver now, and then unbelievably I heard Marion say meekly:

"I am hurrying. But you're hurting my arm."

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, November 19.

A particularly lively and interesting day, with things taking a sudden and intriguing turn, which may upset all previous plans and tactics, judging by the shrewd and subtle aspects of the planets. All relating to promotional enterprises, new propositions, publicity, writings, renewal of contracts and agreement are to the fore and calling for much discretion, strategy and keen insight in order to reap the greatest benefits. Be amenable to change should it appear advisable. There may be social reaction rather disappointing, irritating.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very lively and eventful year, with much commotion and surprise, perhaps intrigue and undercover activities. New matters, innovations, unusual adventures, in which writings, contracts, advertising and promotion have public appeal and deep significance, which call for far vision, cleverness and subtlety as well as strategy in order to rise to the ambitious climax aimed at. Sudden or surprising reactions may arise in the personal, social or even affectional relations unless circumspect and rational point of view be maintained. Change and travel are probable.

A child born on this day should be exceedingly clever, resourceful, original and shrewd. It will be equipped for much popularity in any of the professions.

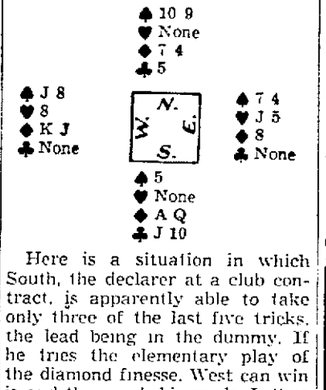
"The Authority on Authorities"

COMBINING STRATAGEMS

PERHAPS the most interesting lead-throwing end-plays of all are those which combine some two, or all, of the three principal types. The most frequent combination is that which gives the defender, after he is put in the lead, an option between leading a suit which will furnish a ruff in one hand while getting a discard in the other, and leading another suit in which he must pitch up to a tenace. Sometimes the third style is involved—that in which the defender must lead to an established card or cards of a suit, in dummy or declarer's hand, for which the declarer has no entries of his own.



Here is a situation in which South, the declarer at a club contract, is apparently able to take only three of the last five tricks, the lead being in the dummy. If he tries the elementary play of the diamond finesse, West can win it and then cash his spade J, thus taking two tricks. But the declarer can manage to get four of the last five tricks by leading a spade and thus putting West in the lead.

What can West do? He has a choice of three different suits to lead, but any one of the three will present a trick to the declarer. If he leads a spade, it is right into the high 9, which will enable the declarer to discard the diamond Q. If West leads his heart, the declarer can ruff in the dummy and discard his diamond Q on the trick. If poor West picks the third alternative, a diamond, he has to lead right into the tenace, making both of South's diamonds good.

This, of course, illustrates a combination of all three general styles of lead-throwing end-play combined in one deal, but it also shows how any two of them might be combined.

The more important factor, after learning such plays, is to make careful deductions from the bidding and the fall of the cards, to figure out therefrom the kind of finishing position which should be constructed, and then proceed with eliminating the hands of your own side and the defense down to that position, so that the play will work. Sometimes this can be done in a positive way, the declarer knowing the play will work, and sometimes he can only hope the outstanding cards lie correctly, as his only chance to win.

If poor West picks the third alternative, a diamond, he has to lead right into the tenace, making both of South's diamonds good.
This, of course, illustrates a combination of all three general styles of lead-throwing end-play combined in one deal, but it also shows how any two of them might be combined.
The more important factor, after learning such plays, is to make careful deductions from the bidding and the fall of the cards, to figure out therefrom the kind of finishing position which should be constructed, and then proceed with eliminating the hands of your own side and the defense down to that position, so that the play will work. Sometimes this can be done

AVIATION NEWS—

NON COLLEGE GROUPS MAKE BEST PILOTS

That's Claim of Expert Who Praises CAA Pilot Training Program.

By ROBERT E. ROGERS.

Tribute to American youth enrolled in Civilian Pilot training classes like the ones conducted at the municipal airport for the past year was made recently by a well known flight expert.

George Haddaway, editor of Southern Flight magazine comments on the CAA's pilot training upholding the contention of seasoned aviators that the non-college groups are turning out the best pilots.

"Everywhere you stick your nose into this program, you'll find substantiation of the old fashioned philosophy that the boys who are having to sacrifice to get what they want are doing the best job," is the way he puts it.

"As you know most of the non-college students must go through a highly competitive ground school course in which their chances for flight training run anywhere from one out of 50 to 200 for flight training."

He adds, "occasionally college lads are apt to be sloppy in their groundand flight work. Some of them look upon the program as an opportunity to get something for nothing though this cannot apply to hundreds of college students who have attacked this work conscientiously."

This expert's deductions then should knock a hole clear through the strict army and navy flight regulations.

"I happen to have a college education myself, including two years of math, Latin, physics etc," Haddaway writes, "and I'M as lost as a brindle cat on Park avenue at navigation without a radio.

"I believe I'll go down and join a non-college class of pilots and join up with the elevator boys and filling station attendants. Yet even though nine out of 10 of them would make better combat pilots than I, Uncle Sam will accept me because I happen to have a college education."

Several Mansfield youths have made application to the army during the past year and have been turned down because of technical regulations, one because he was only two inches over the maximum height limit and another because army physicians said his heart wasn't the best.

But recently the regulations were modified and the youths notified that they would be accepted. Their attitude now however is "Why should I enlist now. The army wouldn't take me when I wanted to give my services."

And speaking of CPT flight training. Another class of 10 students a few weeks ago graduated from the ground school took to the air this week to start their 50-hour instructions course towards a private pilots license.

James R. Harrington, airport manager, says that 35 youths have already taken physical examinations for entrance in the new ground school to be started at Senior high school before Dec 1.

He expects that approximately 15 will be eligible by the time the classes get under way. Among those to qualify so far are five girls. There are also candidates from surrounding cities, including a youth who wants the training so badly that he plans to drive here from Columbus twice weekly to get the instruction.

Pilot Charles Silsby will go to Cleveland this week to take his written exam for ground school instructor's rating after which he will go to Lunken airport in Cincinnati for a 25-hour refresher course in air maneuvers before being licensed by the government.

Incidentally, a new flight instructor will be added to the airport staff today. He's M. J. Ernst of Chambersburg Pa., who will assist Harrington in instruction of CPT students.

Meanwhile, at Ashland 14 pilots graduated recently from the CAA's college training course there, were awarded diplomas at exercises at the college.

Those who won their wings are LeRoy Wittemire of Mansfield; Eugene Pughst, Robert Sprague, Virgil Scobey and Charles Hockensmith, athletes at the school, and Max Griffith, William Zechman, Frank Bordonaro, Richard Snow, Paul Culler, Duane Plice, Andy Lacey, Robert Barnhill and Lyman Mabee.

Instruction in the course was provided by Dr. Taylor in navigation and meteorology and flight training by Walter Shuey, operator of Ashland airport.
